Gets Class Honors

MARJORIE KIDD

Miss Marjorie Kidd, Valedictorian of the Senior Class in recent graduation exercises at Yoe High School, won the honors with high averages to maintain a family tradition for scholastic excellence.

Miss Kidd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Kidd of Cameron, was the last of a family of four, to end a brilliant record in high school. Two sisters and a brother who preceded her in graduation were all honor students. Mrs. Robert D. Rhode, the former Miss Dorothy Kidd, was also Valedictorian of the Senior Class in her graduation year and Miss Winelle Kidd was Salutatorian in her graduation year because of high averages in her work. Wayland Kidd, the son, was third high in graduation year and first among the young men of his class. He entered University of Texas and was in the enlisted reserve of the Marine Corps. He has just reported for engineering duty at the University of Colorado at Boulder.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Kidd, parents of the four distinguished graduates, are patrons of the University.

In her Valedictory address, Miss Marjorie, spoke from the assigned subject, "The Only Way to Lasting Peace—The Christian Way."

"The Christian way to lasting peace does not demand that the right shall yield to the wrong merely to avoid strife, or that the victims of wanton aggression shall cower at the feet of the aggressors, and simply pray for peace," said Miss Marjorie.

"Peace patterns should embody the objective of a lasting peace rather than a temporary truce."

"Eternal vigilance is the price of Liberty," and Christian precaution requires that peaceful nations prepare, and stay prepared, to defend Christian civilization. No doubt it was Christian vigilance that prompted the slogans: "Put your trust in God and keep your powder dry;" "Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition;" and "Our Full Crew Aboard and our Trust in the Lord."

FIERCE NAVAL BATTLE RAGING IN PACIFIC

With one destroyer already admitted sunk and the statement from Washington early Tuesday that a fierce naval battle is in progress in the South Pacific battle area, it was believed that a fight of large proportions has been joined between the United States and Japanese naval units.

Although communications from General MacArthur's headquarters did not mention the battle, the Navy Department said that damage had been done to the U. S. Fleet. One destroyer was admitted lost.

Japanese losses have not been stated. Based on past experience, it was not expected that the truth would be known for some days.

United States forces were forging the pincers around Munda and a decisive battle is expected within the next 60 days. Heavy fighting was reported in the air with the Japs losing more than the usual of ships.

1943 Rainfall Five Inches Below Normal

Rainfall in June was 2.40 inches. Total for first 6 months of 1943 was 14.29 inches, almost 5 inches below the normal for this period of 19.12 inches. Last precipitation 0.10 inches recorded June 14th.

Highest temperature in June was 100 degrees on the 28th and 90 degrees or higher was recorded on 23 of the 30 days.

PENSIONS CUT DUE TO FUND SHORTAGE

Austin, July 6.—The State Department of Public Welfare announced today that the state lacks $483,695.80 having enough to pay old age assistance grants in full in July and that in writing checks $2.64 must be deducted from the amount of each certified grant. The cut in June was $2.43. Although 1,824 names appear on the July rolls which were not on the June rolls, 217 being reinstatements of former recipients, the rolls made a net increase of only 66, climbing from 183,154 to 183,220. Some 14,915 reinvestigations were completed in June, 8,764 discovering increased need and resulting in raises while 1,813 found need and resulted in lower grants, and 3,446 found no net change. The department found 892 cases to be currently ineligible and removed them from the rolls. Death took an additional 866 off the rolls during June.

The average payment for July will be $20.29 as compared with $20.31 in June. July payments will total $719,367.78. Total disbursements will necessarily remain static since the same amount of money is available each month. Thus while the average grant may reflect the actual condition of need and increased living cost in a steady rise from month to month, this will only result in widening the gap between actual payments and individual certified grants. The cut, which represents this gap, is not an average, but is a flat deduction applied uniformly to each grant as a means of reducing the total of checks to the amount on deposit for their payment.

During June 5 cases were added to the blind rolls for July payment. A total of $108,255 will be paid to 4,485 blind persons in an average grant of $24.14. This is the only program not restricted by insufficient funds. During June the Aid to Dependent Children rolls lost 222 families, representing 550 children. Checks averaging $21.29 totaling $253,495, will go out in July to 11,908 families, representing 26,425 children.

Gave His Life

MAX SCHWINGER, JR.

Max Schwinger, Jr., lost his life on June 22, 1942, when a German submarine sunk their ship in Gulf waters. The name and position of the ship at the time it was torpedoed are military secrets. The ship carried a crew of 33 officers and men and all were lost.

Max went to Port Arthur shortly after he graduated from Yoe High School and went to work for the Sabine Transportation Company.

When the ship left Port Arthur on June 20, 1942, Max and a friend Woodrow Ermis, also of Cameron, joined up, wishing to make the trip.

Max was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Schwinger, Sr., of Cameron and was born and reared in Milam county. Max Schwinger, Sr., is a veteran of World War No. 1 and a hero, receiving decorations for gallantry in action in France against the Germans.

Memorial services were held in July 1942, for Max, Jr., at the Jones Prairie Baptist Church, at which time hundreds of friends and neighbors from over the county gathered to pay tribute. Rev. Butler, pastor of the church, brought the address.

Mr. and Mrs. Louie Denker and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lange of Cameron spent last week end in Austin where they visited their daughters, Miss Viola Denker and Miss Norine Lang, both are employed in Austin.

Mrs. Florence Randle of Rockdale is visiting in the home of Miss Lilyan Weems.

Keeps 'Em Rolling

PFC. JOE THOMPSON

Pfc. Joe Thompson as a graduate army auto mechanic keeps 'em rolling like the airplane mechanics keeps 'em flying and has made good in the army which he likes very much.

Pfc. Thompson was inducted into the army on October 9, 1942, and was sent to Camp Roberts, Calif., where he received his basic training. Later he went to Camp White at Medford, Oregon, later to Fort Crook, Nebraska, for schooling.

He graduated at Fort Crook from the school of General Automotive Mechanics and was sent back to Camp White, where he is now stationed.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Thompson, Sr., of Cameron, was born and reared here and graduated from Yoe High School.

Copper For Bullets And Free Show Here Thursday At Milam

Patriotic Cameron children on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, July 8th will have the opportunity to help in the war effort and see a free show at the Milam Theatre.

The show is "Call Out the Marines," and the admission price will be a minimum of 8 ounces of copper or brass.

Theatres throughout America are sponsoring this drive. In Cameron the Milam Theatre will stage the show and John Prude, manager said he would do everything possible to make the campaign here a success.

It is a one day show with 10 a. m. the hour. In some cities children were required to bring more than 8 ounces of brass but in Cameron the minimum has been fixed at that amount. More will be better service. So it's copper for bullets in Cameron Thursday morning at 10 at the Milam Theatre.

Tomorrow The Herald will publish a list of things you can bring to see this show.

Mr. battle is large enough to mean an all out offensive.

Lieut. S. E. Malone Graduates at Luke Field Arizona

Lt. S. E. Malone, former Cameron boy, has graduated from Luke Field Arizona, as a combat pilot in the United States Army Air Corps, and has reported for duty at Bakersfield, Calif.

Lt. Malone is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Malone of Houston who formerly lived in Cameron. He was given his wings on June 22.

On December 3, 1942, a brother, Lt. Yates Malone was graduated from Luke Field as a combat pilot and is now an instructor at the air field at Las Vegas, Nevada.

Staff Sgt. Thomas S. Malone, another brother, is stationed at Ellington Field, Houston, making a total of three brothers of the family in the army air corps.

Agriculture Teacher Here, Dies in Temple

J. B. Preston, former agriculture teacher in Yoe High School, died in a Temple Hospital Wednesday.

Mr. Preston was a member of the faculty of North Texas Agricultural College, a place he took when he left Cameron.

Mr. Preston was a member of the Yoe High faculty about 20 years ago. Many here remembered him for his work. He was among the first if not the first agriculture teachers in the schools here.

Mrs. R. M. Haddox of Hearne is spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Weems of Cameron.

BANK RESOURCES OVER TEN MILLION IN CITY

Bank resources in Cameron are over ten and a half million dollars.

Statements just issued by the banks here disclose an all time high in resources. Of the grand totals of the banks some nine million is in cash. Loans are very low.

Cameron is the strongest banking center in Texas for a city of this population. Circulation under war conditions is responsible for this plus the natural wealth of the community.

Agricultural interests have largely turned to livestock and poultry and these are at high price levels.

Tune Filled Laugh Hit Opens at Cameron Thursday

Scintillant swing and racy radio romance are the order of the day, so far as Columbia's "Reveille With Beverly" is concerned. The tune-filled new laugh hit, which opens Thursday at the Cameron Theatre with lovely Ann Miller heading a top-flight cast of radio's foremost entertainers, is expected to attract eager attention from radio, movie and swing fans.

Filmom's belief that the "hepcats" will be on hand at the Cameron Theatre early—and often!—is founded on fact. The film is based upon an exceedingly popular radio broadcast, which first attracted attention on the West Coast and which rapidly attained nation-wide fame. The film not only describes the origin of the program, and its operation, but does so in a manner permitting the inclusion of rhythm "in the groove," sizzling dancing and red-hot bands.

Miss Miller's tap-dancing is well-known; equally well-known are the swiny rhythms of such entertainers as:

Bob Crosby and his "Dixieland" band; Duke Ellington and his Orchestra, "swing band of the year;" Count Basie and his Orchestra, undisputed kings of jive; Freddie Slack and his orchestra with vocalist Ella Mae Morse, "champagne hour" favorites; Frank Sinatra, radio's exciting romantic vocalist; the Mills Brothers, hottest of all harmony teams; and the Radio Rogues, merriest of all mimics.

Miss Miller is the "Beverly" of the title, a swing fan employed as switchboard operator in a Denver radio station. Insisting that jive programs would attract plenty of attention, she "gets in the hair" of everyone at the station, from the general manger down. Finally, by a subterfuge, she manages to handle an early-morning program of classical music, and promptly switches over to hotted rhythms. Her program is dedicated to the boys in the Army camps around Denver, who hear reveille at 5:30 a. m. and it immediately becomes a sensation.

Beverly's bright chatter and brighter recordings make her a subject of curious conversation in the camp. "Is she as attractive as she sounds?" Wm. Wright and Dick Purcell are chiefly responsible for that question, and they undertake to find out. The romantic rivalry which follows contributes much to the motion pictures entertainment effects.

C. F. DRAKE IS DEAD AT ROCKDALE HOME

C. F. Drake, for years, Secretary of the Rockdale Chamber of Commerce and widely known in the development of Milam county oil fields, died at his home in Rockdale Thursday.

Mr. Drake had been in the Cameron Hospital for treatment. He lost his health some years ago.

Funeral services were to be held Saturday in Weatherford where his wife is buried.

Mr. Drake was widely known for his writings on geology and among oil operators.

Mr. and Mrs. Edna Meyers and daughter, Miss Estelle Mae Meyers, of Houston, spent the week end here with his mother, Mrs. Lou Meyers and sister, Miss Lalla Meyers. Miss Estelle has formerly been employed in Philadelphia with the Sun Oil Co., where she was employed in the engineering department, and holds like position here in Houston and has the distinction of being the only woman in Texas holding like position.

Excellent Record

STAFF SGT. KENNARD HUGHES

If the army awarded E for excellence, one Cameron boy would get honors. He is Staff Sgt. Kennard E. Hughes who is attached to the Medical Corps of the army.

Sgt. Hughes has directed championship baseball and other sports in the west, being assigned as athletic director for a large area of the army establishments in Arizona.

He enlisted as a volunteer on September 11, 1940, before the enactment of the Selective Service law. He was assigned to duty at March Field, Calif., and is in the Army Air Corps. From that point he went to Albuquerque, New Mexico and later to Pecos, Texas.

His latest assignment has taken him a Missouri. His work is an assistant in the operating room to surgeons of the air corps.

Sgt. Hughes was born and reared in Cameron, the son of W. W. Hughes. He attended Yoe High School. One of his achievements in the army is a sharpshooter and marksman.

Copper For War is Admission to Show At Milam Thursday

The shower was held in the home of Mrs. Batte and friends gathering for the occasion brought many lovely gifts.

Mrs. Moody, wife of W. C. (Nig) Moody, was named District Clerk in January to succeed her husband who is in the armed forces.

The shower was a surprise and held in the home of Mrs. Batte.

Germany, according to some, seems convinced the Allies will not invade and is therefore free to press the war in the east to a successful conclusion. If Russia can stand up against the Germans no invasion may ever be attempted. In that case Russia will dictate to the world.

It's the same any way you call, 282

REDS SAY NAZI LOSE 20,000 MEN MONDAY

Aided and encouraged by American and British hesitation the Germans have launched what military experts say is a new all out offensive to knock Russia out of the war.

The Germans have followed their style of reporting developments by minimizing the battle. They call it a local operation and confined to only about 5000 yards on the Orel front no more than 250 miles from Moscow.

The Red communication issued early Tuesday said that the Germans have lost 700 tanks and some twenty thousand dead. These reports are not to be relied upon.

The Reds say they have thrown back every German thrust but admit penetrations in their lines.

It will be the third summer of attack upon the Russians and still there is no indication that either the United States or Britain intend to attack Germany by land. The air war has fooled millions of people. There is no substitute for an invasion, though air war has been played up and over-emphasized to cover up failures in the United Nations Command to attack or to be ready for the attack which must come or the war will be lost.

Air attacks were stepped up on Sicily but there were no land operations.

The Germans seemed determined to knock out the reds although, based on reports at noon there was nothing in the news to indicate the present

As I write you on Friday afternoon (July 2) it seems very probable that before it reaches you Congress will have recessed. As a matter of fact, we had expected to recess yesterday afternoon. Each House has passed all of the bills requested by the Army and Navy and all of the Appropriation bills, but there are still differences between the two Houses on several of the appropriations. We hope that before the day is over that these differences will have been compromised.

About three o'clock this afternoon the President sent a message to Congress vetoing the Commodity Credit Bill. His objection to the bill was the fact that it contained provisions which forbid the payment of subsidies to maintain food price "roll backs." The House voted 228 to 154 to override the veto, but since it required a two to one vote to override it, the veto was sustained. We then passed a resolution continuing the Commodity Credit Corporation for six months. The President contends that if the Government will pay part of the cost of everybody's food from the public treasury that it will not be necessary to raise wages and that inflation can be prevented. I simply can't believe that the Government should pay my grocery bill, as long as I can do so. I don't believe that we can top inflation by giving the people money. I cannot see why it is not just as inflationary for the Government to put $10 of tax money in circulation as it is to let a laborer put $10 in circulation for which he worked. I can, however, understand that if the Government pays all or any part of my grocery bill today that you and your children must pay taxes for years to come to repay that money. I think that we should let the farmer get a fair price for his products in the market place, let the laborer earn a fair wage for his labor, give direct government help only to those in need and absorb the tremendous surplus power of so many of our people by very heavier taxation and enforced savings. So long as this war lasts, the people who can must help the Government. We must pay taxes and buy bonds so save ourselves from inflation as well as to provide needed Governmental revenues. I, therefore, voted to override the veto, and then voted to continue the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Unless the President unexpectedly vetoes some more of the bills we have passed, the House and Senate will both recess until September. The recess resolution provides that either

REV. ORAHOOD BEGINS MINISTRY HERE SUNDAY

Rev. C. B. Orahood began his ministry with First Christian church Sunday. He brings a great Christian experience from years of pastoral work and evangelism.

He has worked as singer with such evangelists as Chas. Reign Scoville, A. B. McReynolds, and John W. Darby. He has assisted many pastors in promoting revival and evangelistic programs, including union meetings and several friends of other brotherhoods in several states.

O navy veteran of World War 1, he speaks of the present situation and the future as an experienced observer.

In his sermons Sunday he emphasized the fact that the church is the greatest institution the world has ever known. Voicing high praise of the great fraternities and other social institutions he said: "We must not forget that they are founded on portions of the Bible, fragments of Christianity and cultures that have grown out of the influence of the church." Speaking of "Worshiping God as Conscience Dictates" he said "That is the greatest of our freedoms. But, civilized conscience is implied. Even conscience should increase in righteous certainty and be adjusted accordingly as we are 'filled with knowledge of God's will in all wisdom and spiritual understanding and increase in knowledge of God.'"

Mrs. W. T. Harsha sang "Sunrise Tomorrow" at the morning hour. Rev. Orahood sang "God Of Our Fathers" at evening.

Mrs. Frank Reid accompanied both solos.

Next Sunday Rev. Maurice Grove will be in the services, speaking at the morning hour. Mrs. Harsha and Rev. Orahood will sing a duet.

Evening services will begin at 8:30 during the long hot summer days.

They will be bright and "moving" with a degree of dignity that should grace all religious services.

Coca-Cola Begins New Ad Campaign; Does Big War Job

Bottlers of Coca-Cola are using a total of 1612 newspapers in 1373 cities for a new advertising campaign launched this week, according to F. G. Blake, Manager of Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Cameron.

Mr. Blake emphasized the universal coverage that is provided by newspapers and stated that more than 900 Coca-Cola bottling plants throughout the country are represented in this nation-wide use of this medium of advertising.

"The part played by Coca-Cola in the daily life of American soldiers and sailors around the world and the fact that 'Coke' is the recognized abbreviation only for Coca-Cola, form the theme of this new program," said Mr. Blake. "Our armed forces have found Coca-Cola being bottled at many points throughout the Allied Nations. They look upon 'Coke' as one of those little things that remind them of home."

In pointing out that the new advertising features "Coke," the friendly abbreviation of Coca-Cola, Mr. Blake recalled the famous decision written by the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, of the United States Supreme Court, to the effect that "Coke" means Coca-Cola.

Following the introduction of the campaign in the nation's press, the theme will be featured in magazines, radio scripts, posters and other media in an extensive advertising schedule.

GETS HIS PROMOTION

South Plains — Julian Wheelless Terry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Terry of Rt. 3, Cameron has just been appointed a flight officer at "Home of the Winged Commandos" at Lubbock.

The graduating flight officers have completed intensive training in Uncle Sam's large cargo and troop-carrying gliders in one of the largest classes yet to get their wings at SPAFS.

Robert Adams of Oklahoma, formerly of Buckholts who is employed with an Oil Company, is home visiting friends and relatives.

Buffalo Once Numbered 60 Million; Now 5,000

Before the advent of the white man the bison herds totaled possibly 60 million head, almost half as many as the present human population. Now there are only about 5,000 bison. Even this low figure is at least 4,000 in excess of the bison census of 1900, when it was feared the bison would become extinct.

In the natural give and take of wild life, the buffalo had many enemies—flood, prairie fires, quicksand, blizzards, and melting spring ice. Thousands of animals would perish in a single calamity. Two other enemies of the bison—Indians and gray wolves—also took a large toll. The Indian, to whom the bison was food, clothing and shelter, rarely killed beyond his needs until white men started giving him firearms and firewater for buffalo hides. Wolves usually attacked strays and old, dying members of the herds.

Bison increased despite these hazards. Then came the mass killings by the white man. After all the bison east of the Mississippi were killed, white hunters almost succeeded in exterminating the species completely.

The years from 1850 to 1883 were the period of the great bison carnage on the western plains. Travelers killed these 2,000-pound animals for a single meal, often taking only the tongue. Even when bison were killed to feed railroad-building gangs, only the choicest parts were used. "Buffalo Bill" Cody killed 4,280 animals during his tenure as "buffalo killer" for the Kansas Pacific railroad. On a wager he once shot 38 buffalo in one day.

Additional Feeding Needed As Bees Draw on Reserve

At this period of the year, bees draw heavily on the reserve supply of honey which they stored up for the winter and supplemental feeding is necessary in most cases.

During this period, if there is little or no honey flow, the bees normally take advantage of the surplus honey in the hive to produce thousands of young bees and strengthen the colony so that it can function to best advantage when the honey supply does come.

Often this heavy brood rearing takes almost all of the reserve honey supply, and in this case the bees should be given a supplemental feeding, using sugar syrup. The use of either brown sugar or molasses as a substitute for sugar syrup is not advised as they may cause diarrhea and other serious troubles with the bees. The use of brown sugar and molasses has been known to destroy complete hives.

There are several methods of feeding the sugar syrup to the bees. One of the most satisfactory is by use of the Bordaman feeder, which is a small block of wood arranged so that it will feed into the entrance to the hive and will hold an inverted fruit jar in which the sugar syrup is placed.

Origin of Cork Industry

With the development of the glass bottle in the 15th century and its more general introduction in the 17th century, the use of cork became more widespread and the beginnings of the cork industry may be said to have started then. Cork forests which for centuries had been growing wild, surviving the ravages of drouth, wind and fire, were recognized to have a definite commercial value. The first steps toward the cultivation of the cork oak tree were taken in Spain in 1760. A German who had moved to the Spanish peninsula rented several cork forests, cleaned out the underbrush and supervised the harvesting of the bark. The cork was exported to Germany and sold there. Others recognizing the profit in this enterprise, followed the example and by 1830 the cultivation of the cork oak had extended into France, Portugal, Italy and Northern Africa.

New Orleans Now Air Port

Initiation of a Pan American Airways Latin American service through the port of New Orleans will be along the historic north-south march of men and goods which 100 years ago made the Louisiana metropolis a more important international shipping center than New York. Down the great Ohio and Mississippi valleys flowed commercial traffic at a time when New Orleans was a roaring, boisterous, cosmopolite among its sister American cities. Progressively New Orleans took on dignity and progressively the east-west railroads and the Panama canal nibbled away at the city's importance as the leading American seaport. New Orleans still enjoys the position of a major American port. With the coming of the trans-Gulf airline, it will be an international gateway for north-south air traffic.

Western Grandeur

The Grand Teton National park and the Jackson Hole National monument in Wyoming form a matchless combination of scenic beauty. Within the park is a massing of mountain peaks, much of it above timber line. The Grand Teton itself, loftiest peak in the park, rises to an altitude of 13,766 feet, and has been referred to by an outstanding historian as "the most noted historic summit of the West." The Tetons rise 5,000 to 7,000 feet above the floor of Jackson Hole, giving a breath-taking range of scenery.

JAP WARSHIPS RUN AWAY FROM A FIGHT

Seven Japanese warships were chased out of New Georgia battle area Saturday, said a dispatch from the headquarters of the United Nations command in the South Pacific.

The fleet of Jap ships was made up of destroyers and 3 cruisers. It was the first naval thrust to be made since the Americans landed on Rendova Island.

Fighting was at a standstill in the area. It was disclosed that American units had landed in these operations in advance of the main force and the Japs were taken by complete surprise.

The Japs were broadcasting claims of victories over the United States. United Nations propagandists were poking fun at the Axis Saturday over the predicted invasion on July 3rd. It has apparently not occurred to the United Nations that no invasion is the biggest joke of all.

Sicily, Sardinia and Goutelaria in Italy were severely bombed by the Allies. The Axis lost 12 planes shot down while the United Nations lost 3.

The Nazi have been driven back in the sector before Smolensk.

AMERICANS ARE STILL THE BEST NOURISHED PEOPLE ON EARTH ... AND THERE'S A REASON

Our food may be stretched out these days to share with the peoples of the United Nations, but thanks to new scientific developments in animal feeding, our feathered and four-legged armies are being greatly improved in quality and propagation.

To tiny yeast cells goes much of the credit, because brewer's yeast is the source of the vitamins used to fortify feed mixtures. Now, when you eat meat raised on vitamin-fortified feeds, you're getting nutrition plus.

Anheuser-Busch is America's biggest supplier of yeast vitamins for cattle and poultry feeds. Our large-scale production of natural vitamins is another achievement that resulted from years of research and laboratory work in producing the world's most popular beer.

In addition to supplying the armed forces with glider parts, gun turret parts and foodstuffs, Anheuser-Busch produces materials which go into the manufacture of: B Complex Vitamins • Rubber • Aluminum • Munitions • Medicines • Hospital Diets • Baby Foods • Bread and other Bakery Products • Batteries • Paper • Soap and Textiles—to name a few.

APPLICATION BLANKS FOR GAS BOOKS READY

Plans to renew motorists' "A" gasoline coupon books by mail under the streamlined renewal plan recently announced by the OPA beginning June 22 have been completed by the Milam War Price and Rationing Board, Sam Perry, Chairman, announced today.

He coupled this announcement with a request that car owners file their applications as soon as possible so that the Board may process them and mail out all new books before the present "A" rations expire July 21.

The mail renewal plan, which also includes renewals of the basic "D" motorcycle rations, eliminates the school-house registration that was necessary when basic rations were issued last autumn. To get his new "A" or "D" books a car or motorcycle owner needs take only the following simple steps:

1. Pick up an application form at any service station. The forms will be available at these places beginning July 1.
 2. Fill out the form and mail it to the War Price and Rationing Board together with (a) the back cover of the present "A" or "D" book (properly filled out,) and (b) the current tire inspection record showing that proper inspections have been made.
- "With volunteer help now being enlisted the Board will begin processing the applications as soon as they start coming in," Mr. Perry said.

SCOPE OF U S ATTACK IN PACIFIC WIDENS

The scope of the attack by combined forces of the United States in the Solomon Islands of the Pacific Theatre of war, was extending to become major in aspect Thursday.

On Wednesday our forces landed on the Island of Rendova and Thursday had made simultaneous landings on New Georgia and another island in the Munda area only 5 miles from the Japanese base of Munda.

It was announced in Washington that the transport McCawley was sunk by a Japanese submarine but all members of the crew and the troops aboard were saved. The ship went down off Rendova island in the attack on Wednesday in one hour after hit by Jap torpedoes.

One armed trawler of the U. S. fleet was also sunk. The Americans lost 17 ships of the air while shooting down 65 Japanese planes out of 110 enemy craft taking part in the battle.

The action in the Pacific was taken to indicate that large scale offensive operations are in the making.

In London British newspapers expressed belief that no invasion of Europe would come this year. American news commentators also were inclined to the belief that European operations are off for the time. There was no explanation why the invasion of Europe should be abandoned.

J. C. Penney Company Inaugurates Big Sale On Bonds and Stamps

The J. C. Penney Company began a great sales campaign on war bonds and stamps Thursday, July 1, it was announced here yesterday by J. M. Boehner, manager of the store.

The campaign is nation wide. Locally in July of last year the quota was fixed at $800 and the store sold $10,000 worth in the month. This year the quota has been fixed at $25,000 for July.

The local employees of the store are dedicating their month of sales effort to the following former employees of the Cameron store who are now in the service: United States Navy, Charlie Kreig, Delamon Hayes, Robert Alexander, Robert Vaughn, Robert Bennett and Clayton Kahler. United States Army: Billy Balhorn, Morris Eplen and Truett Chambers, son of Mrs. Maude Chambers, who was wounded in action and is in the army hospital.

The interior and exterior of the store are completely decorated suggesting bonds and stamps and a booth is conveniently located in the lobby of the store.

125 JAP PLANES ARE SHOT DOWN ON RENDOVA

Satisfactory progress was reported Friday from the battle now in progress on the Island of Rendova and adjoining Island of New Georgia.

All positions have been consolidated and the Japs have been driven out of Munda bay. American artillery is now shelling Jap positions five miles away. American warships have joined in the fighting.

Described by commentators as a major campaign there was no indication the Japanese navy could or would be drawn into a decisive battle.

Up to noon Friday 125 Japanese planes had been shot down. We lost 25 with 15 of the pilots being saved.

As it looked Friday the war is stalemated and no invasion of Europe in prospect. The Germans have said that the invasion is to come on July 3.

Power for Victory

In the war news, the big headlines go to the air raids, the commando landings and the taking of large territories and great cities. The loudest acclaim naturally goes to those who take the biggest risks and make the most sensational achievements. Yet full credit should also go to those on the home front whose daily service is essential to victory. This vast group includes not only those who build ships, planes, tanks and other war equipment but every person who works faithfully in an industry that is bolstering the war effort.

The electric power industry, for instance, is one without which no other war industry could operate. There must be power for the lathes, punches, riveters and other machines that make our war weapons, power to light our factories for night shifts, power to take workers from their homes to their jobs and back. One of our main defense aims is to protect our power plants; one of the main objects of our bombers is to destroy the enemy's generating plants.

General Cable Corporation, which makes wires and cables through which electric power is transmitted, does well to call public attention to what the power industry is doing to hasten the day of victory. This industry has given the United States more electric generating capacity than all the rest of the world and has delivered this power to the places where it was most needed and could most readily be harnessed to the war effort. In this and other essential industries, every worker should know that victory depends on his doing his part and should have recognition for unusual performance.

ADDRESS REPLY TO
CHIEF OF ENGINEERS U. S. ARMY
WASHINGTON, D. C.

WAR DEPARTMENT
OFFICE OF THE CHIEF OF ENGINEERS
WASHINGTON

REFER TO FILE NO. CE 675 (Utility War Time Aid Program)-SPEUM

March 6, 1943.

Mr. J. W. Carpenter, President,
Texas Power & Light Company,
Dallas, Texas.

Dear Mr. Carpenter:

The participation of the Texas Power & Light Company in the Utility War Time Aid Program is greatly appreciated by the Army.

Your splendid cooperation has aided in the operation and maintenance of the many military establishments throughout the United States at a minimum of expense and use of critical materials. In making available to the armed forces your wealth of experience, research, manpower, and equipment, you are rendering a very fine contribution to the national war effort on the part of one of America's most vital war industries.

For the Chief of Engineers:

Very respectfully,

O. F. Lewis,
Colonel, Corps of Engineers,
Chief, Repairs and Utilities Branch,
Construction Division.

WE LIKE TO KNOW that others, besides those in the electric industry, appreciate the vital importance of Electric Power Service in the war effort, as well as in the day-to-day life of our customers and their communities.

This Company takes pride in the things it is doing to speed Victory... supplying ample electric power to military installations and war industries (some of which require more electricity than entire Texas cities) and, in addition, providing for the full electric requirements of the civilian population of this area; selling War Bonds; lending full support to the wartime conservation program. Its employees (those who are not fighting at the battle fronts) are "fighting" on the home front... buying a substantial quota of War Bonds; helping to staff the Red Cross, Civilian Defense and other war agencies; and doing their regular, important job of supplying electric power service twenty-four hours a day.

Yes, recognition of our efforts in the war program is a source of inspiration which spurs us on in the fight for Victory.

REDS SAY 30,000 OF NAZI TROOPS SLAIN

The summer German offensive in Russia has begun, so says the Berlin radio.

The Germans admit their push is getting under way later than on two previous summers when they attacked the Red army. The firecest fighting of the Russian campaign was under way on a 160 mile front where the Germans have thrown in some half million mechanized troops in an effort to break through.

The Russians are making fantastic claims. They say some 1800 tanks and 625 German planes have been destroyed. The Germans, says the Red Star, have lost 30,000 men killed in the action which has been under way only a few days.

Some quarters said that the German general staff is convinced that the Allies cannot or will not invade at this time and the big gamble is on to destroy the Red Army.

The German radio said Thursday that the great allied fleet had left Gibraltar and that General Eisenhower has more than a million men ready for the assault on Italy.

The Germans say that a thrust will come through the Near East also.

The American airforce Thursday was stepping up its attack on Sicily and Sardinia. For the first time considerable number of the Army's B-26 bombers, named Marauders by the British, were in action against the soft under belly of the Axis which is Italy.

Over in the South Pacific the Americans were within 6 miles of the great Japanese air base of Munda, now isolated and certain to fall.

It was disclosed that Marines landed on Rendova on June 20 before either a naval or air force went into action.

Rev. and Mrs. R. Kalkbrenner, Mrs. Gus Johns, Mrs. Otto Schulz and Miss Nora Kohring, motored to Waco Thursday to attend the L. T. & S.

Vendors' Signs Amuse American Troops in Egypt

Native Advertisements Prey On Gullible Public; Use 'High' Pressure Tactics.

CAIRO.—One of the first things that delight an American soldier on arrival in Egypt are the signs displayed by shops and restaurants. They are fitting introduction to the wonders of the East, says the Associated Press.

A refumery at the Cairo Bazaar, for example, bears the inscription: "Mohammed Aly. A dealer in Oriental Odours."

A restaurant announces in big black letters: "Eat Here And You Will Not Regret It. English Cooking by Your Greek Allies."

One sign reads: "Joe's Investigation Service. Member of Society of Detectives. Inquiries. Pursuits. Investigations. Burglary. Fires. Accidents. Give us a trial."

And a tobacco shop bears this placard: "Twin X cigarettes. When half smoked they explode. Very amusing."

A barber advertises: "Gentlemen and Ladies hair cut and ironed." One barber, incidentally, will make you a false beard from the hair he cuts off your head, at a small extra charge.

Subscription Haircuts.

Cairo barbers also sell subscriptions, payable in advance. They range from the ordinary eight-piastre-a-month subscription, which entitles the bearer to two haircuts monthly, all the way to the 150-piastre de luxe special, which gives the customer the right to unlimited haircuts, shaves, manicures, singes, massages and anything else either he or the barber can think of.

Several of Cairo's innumerable native guides have produced guide books in English—an achievement more ambitious than grammatical. One starts:

"Here is this ancient Egypt land of the Nile and Pyramids as well as spinkies and temples is so many things to see. The first rule is to take no other guide but only me as other guides are dangerous. If I am busy that day I will get you good guide."

"I will not only show you all the interesting things to see, but also tell you all the mysteries, the mysteries that nobody else knows. I will show you where Moses was found in bullrushes. I know the very spot. I also drive automobiles, having license, and if preferred can rent you camel. I charm snakes. I am archeologist. I also have remedies for all disises and can sell you scarabs from ancient tombs of the kings at prices which are the lowest."

One curio shop advertises in letters several feet high: "Coronation robes for royalty."

Application for a Job.

The Associated Press in Cairo received the following application: "Dear Sirs: I am applying to employment with your distinguished company as stenodactyl. I have been diplomaed three times. I am Syrian by originality, a Christian by fate and very skilful in counting numbers and writing books. As you see, my English is perfect. I also speak and write perfect French, Arabic and Italian and have some notions of Greek."

A cafe bears the sign: "Excellent intoxicating beverages special for His Britannic Majesty's Forces at regulated prices." Another, with amazing candor, described one of its drinks as "an artificial stimulant made of synthetic alcohol and imitation flavor."

A brand of American-type cigarettes manufactured in Egypt bears a notice on each package that "these cigarettes are guaranteed free from ingredients."

"Families washed at special rates," is the pledge of a laundry.

In Egypt a Sand Witch is not a vision seen in the desert but rather a piece of meat between two pieces of bread.

It's all very funny, but in fairness to the authors of the signs it must be said that if the soldiers were to attempt to write in Arabic the result would be just as funny to the Egyptians.

See Plenty of 'Durable'

Wartime Shoes This Year

WASHINGTON.—About 15 million more pairs of "durable" wartime shoes for civilians will be produced this year than last, although production of shoes of all kinds will be nearly 100 million pairs less than the 1942 record production, the War Production board said recently.

"Plenty of essential shoes for men, women and children on the home front—little material or manpower for frivolous footwear," is the slogan on which WPB has based its shoe orders.

SAVE FOOD

Proper Storage Cuts Waste

We Americans have been very wasteful of our food. There's waste in transportation, at the wholesalers, at the grocery store, and in the home where 10 to 16 per cent* of the food winds up in the garbage can. You, the homemaker, through a personal conservation program can do much to cut this waste. Plan your shopping for first of the week and avoid careless handling of fresh foods. Cook food properly. Reduce size of servings with an invitation to come back for "seconds." Store food as shown in chart below.

Saving is Producing Food

If you have a modern trouble-free, silent automatic gas refrigerator, it provides several different degrees of cold in various locations. So food should be placed in the refrigerator in such a way that it will get the proper degree of cold. Remember, proper refrigeration requires free air circulation within the food storage cabinet, so don't cut down the circulation by over-crowding with large packages of food. For proper storage follow the above chart carefully.

10 JAP WAR SHIPS TOLL IN SOLOMONS

Greece has been placed under martial law by the Germans.

Unrest and threatened revolt of the oppressed people of the small country were thought responsible for the action.

Continued delay in prosecution of the war have led many observers to believe there will be no invasion attempt this year. The Germans may consider the martial law necessary both as a means of taking precautions and to suppress violence.

The Russians made a fantastic claim Wednesday that the Germans have lost 1271 tanks, 325 planes and 13,000 men killed in the last two days of fighting in the sector near Moscow.

United States war ships are bombarding the Island of Kiski in the Aleutian waters.

Ten Japanese war ships have been sunk or damaged by American naval units in the Solomons area off New Georgia island. The United States lost one cruiser and one destroyer.

General Giraud has arrived in Washington from North Africa and is in conference with President Roosevelt.

Air units based in North Africa are pounding Sicily.

Cigarette Fund Is Completed Here By The American Legion

Commander Jim McGoldrick of the American Legion here has announced that the Cigarette Fund has been completed.

Within the space of a little more than an hour the remaining $100 was subscribed and the cigarettes have been ordered. They are to be sent to the fighting fronts of the world for American soldiers.

Mr. McGoldrick was happy over the response. The local post of the Legion has done a fine job. It was understood the Lions Club will sponsor a cigarette fund drive here in the near future. Mr. McGoldrick said the Legion will co-operate in every way possible.

Copper For Bullets Centers About Big Show Here Thursday

All was in readiness for the big free show at the Milam Thursday morning at 10 a. m.

Kiddies throughout the city were planning to be soldiers for a day and bring in copper, brass or bronze. The show is "Call Out the Marines," and 8 ounces of metal will pay an admission.

Here is a list of things the kids or grow ups can get to aid the war efforts and pay admission to the show:

Copper: Armatures, coins (pennies which the Government is recalling) electric cords, fans, kettles, light bulb bases, radio aerials, radio coils, roofing, screens, tubing and wire; Bronze: Auto bushings, auto radiators, faucets and valves! Brass: lipstick cases and powder room gadgets most of which contain enough brass to make a cartridge, andirons, ash trays, auto headlights, beds, book ends, bowls, candlesticks, compacts, cuspidors, decorative hardware, door knockers, door knobs, electric light fixtures, fire extinguishers, fire place screens, flashlight cases, hinges, keys, ornaments, pipes, statues, switch plates and vases. If in doubt about the metal, test it with a magnet. If the magnet sticks, it is not copper, Brass or Bronze. If it does not stick, then the Government needs it for bullets. With all our copper capacity we are still 40 per cent below our minimum requirements.

the Majority or Minority Leaders may call the Members back at any time. I am going to be in Texas over the week end, leaving tonight, and, of course, if all goes well, I will hope to be able to stay, in which event I expect to open my office in the Federal Building at Waco in an effort to better serve the people of our District. The folks up here seem to think that when we leave Washington, we are always taking a vacation. As a matter of fact, I feel that some of our most important work is at home. As soon as my Secretary, Mr. Sleeper, gets home, we expect to visit each county for the purpose of consulting with those friends who have matters of any kind that they want to discuss with us in person. I will try to announce the date we will in the various counties as soon as I can. In this connection, let me again emphasize that it is always most helpful and often absolutely necessary for us to have the serial number of the soldiers when we are making any inquiry about a boy in the service, his insurance or allotment, and, of course, the same applies in connection with inquiries about priority certificates, etc. It will be impossible for us to have our files with us; therefore, we will have to rely on those who are interested in the cases to give us all the facts. You will be able to remember the details of the one case in which you are interested. We will be almost certain to get confused or forget if you ask us to recall all the details of every one of the hundreds of cases that we will have to discuss. We want to help every citizen of the 11th District, but you can help us to help you by giving us all of the details—in writing if possible.

The seriousness of the food situation has been emphasized by the recent resignation of the War Food Administrator, Hon. Chester Davis, and the appointment of a former Member of the Texas Congressional Delegation, Judge Marvin Jones of Amarillo. Mr. Davis quit because he did not have the authority to shape the policy of the program for which he had to accept the responsibility and because he did not agree with the policies he was directed to carry out. He stated that he did not believe in the subsidy and roll-back program. I will be glad to give Judge Jones full power over the rationing and pricing of food just as the Agriculture Committee wanted to give Mr. Davis, because I believe that any man must have these powers if he is to make a success of this position. Judge Jones is a splendid, high class man. He is honorable and intelligent and will do his best. I wish him well, but I fear that he is undertaking an impossible task.

As I expect to be with you in Texas, this will be my last news letter until the recess is over. In the meantime, best wishes.

Let's help our farmer neighbors with their hauling problems

AMERICA'S farmers have the tremendous responsibility of raising more food this Summer than ever before in the nation's history.

Farm manpower is scarce. Every hour of every farmer's time is vital to victory. Let's help conserve it.

Don't keep any farmer waiting

Owners of stores, operators of markets, warehouses, elevators, terminals and processing plants, can aid substantially in the success of the "Food for Victory" program by expediting the loading and unloading of farm products.

Every farmer is an essential home front soldier. Don't keep him waiting. He has a long way to go and no time to waste.

Studebaker dealers are co-operating. Studebaker dealers go out of their way to help obtain parts for all makes of trucks.

They co-operate further by handling special repair jobs for farmers as fast as possible.

Many Studebaker dealers have special facilities for locating used trucks, that have been idle or in part-time use, for sale to farmers.

Keep your car and truck up to par. All trucks and cars must be kept in good shape to safeguard the nation's vital transportation life lines. And that's especially important this Summer.

Drop in for regular inspections. Studebaker dealers' mechanics are Essential Transportation Workers who can spot and correct truck or car trouble before it becomes serious.

Ask for free copy of Studebaker's valuable, new, 48-page book, "Care and Maintenance of the Farm Truck"—or write Studebaker Truck Division, Dept. N, South Bend, Indiana.

APPLICATION BLANKS FOR GAS BOOKS READY

Plans to renew motorists' "A" gasoline coupon books by mail under the streamlined renewal plan recently announced by the OPA beginning June 22 have been completed by the Milam War Price and Rationing Board, Sam Perry, Chairman, announced today.

He coupled this announcement with a request that car owners file their applications as soon as possible so that the Board may process them and mail out all new books before the present "A" rations expire July 21.

The mail renewal plan, which also includes renewals of the basic "D" motorcycle rations, eliminates the school-house registration that was necessary when basic rations were issued last autumn. To get his new "A" or "D" books a car or motorcycle owner needs take only the following simple steps:

1. Pick up an application form at any service station. The forms will be available at these places beginning July 1.

2. Fill out the form and mail it to the War Price and Rationing Board together with (a) the back cover of the present "A" or "D" book (properly filled out,) and (b) the current tire inspection record showing that proper inspections have been made.

"With volunteer help now being enlisted the Board will begin processing the applications as soon as they start coming in," Mr. Perry said.

SCOPE OF U S ATTACK IN PACIFIC WIDENS

The scope of the attack by combined forces of the United States in the Solomon Islands of the Pacific Theatre of war, was extending to become major in aspect Thursday.

On Wednesday our forces landed on the Island of Rendova and Thursday had made simultaneous landings on New Georgia and another island in the Munda area only 5 miles from the Japanese base of Munda.

It was announced in Washington that the transport McCawley was sunk by a Japanese submarine but all members of the crew and the troops aboard were saved. The ship went down off Rendova island in the attack on Wednesday in one hour after hit by Jap torpedoes.

One armed trawler of the U. S. fleet was also sunk. The Americans lost 17 ships of the air while shooting down 65 Japanese planes out of 110 enemy craft taking part in the battle.

The action in the Pacific was taken to indicate that large scale offensive operations are in the making.

In London British newspapers expressed belief that no invasion of Europe would come this year. American news commentators also were inclined to the belief that European operations are off for the time. There was no explanation why the invasion of Europe should be abandoned.

Mrs. T. M. Hairston Ill at Marlow Home

Mrs. T. M. Hairston, life long resident of Milam county, is gravely ill at the home of her son, John W. Hairston at Marlow.

J. C. Penney Company Inaugurates Big Sale On Bonds and Stamps

The J. C. Penney Company began a great sales campaign on war bonds and stamps Thursday, July 1, it was announced here yesterday by J. M. Boehner, manager of the store.

The campaign is nation wide. Locally in July of last year the quota was fixed at $800 and the store sold $10,000 worth in the month. This year the quota has been fixed at $25,000 for July.

The local employees of the store are dedicating their month of sales effort to the following former employees of the Cameron store who are now in the service: United States Navy: Charlie Kreig, Delamon Hayes, Robert Alexander, Robert Vaughn, Robert Bennett and Clayton Kahler. United States Army: Billy Balhorn, Morris Eplen and Truett Chambers, son of Mrs. Maude Chambers, who was wounded in action and is in the army hospital.

The interior and exterior of the store are completely decorated suggesting bonds and stamps and a booth is conveniently located in the lobby of the store.

125 JAP PLANES ARE SHOT DOWN ON RENDOVA

Satisfactory progress was reported Friday from the battle now in progress on the Island of Rendova and adjoining Island of New Georgia.

All positions have been consolidated and the Japs have been driven out of Munda bay. American artillery is now shelling Jap positions five miles away. American warships have joined in the fighting.

Described by commentators as a major campaign there was no indication the Japanese navy could or would be drawn into a decisive battle.

Up to noon Friday 125 Japanese planes had been shot down. We lost 25 with 15 of the pilots being saved.

As it looked Friday the war is stalemated and no invasion of Europe in prospect. The Germans have said that the invasion is to come on July 3.

Power for Victory

In the war news, the big headlines go to the air raids, the commando landings and the taking of large territories and great cities. The loudest acclaim naturally goes to those who take the biggest risks and make the most sensational achievements. Yet full credit should also go to those on the home front whose daily service is essential to victory. This vast group includes not only those who build ships, planes, tanks and other war equipment but every person who works faithfully in an industry that is bolstering the war effort.

The electric power industry, for instance, is one without which no other war industry could operate. There must be power for the lathes, punches, riveters and other machines that make our war weapons, power to light our factories for night shifts, power to take workers from their homes to their jobs and back. One of our main defense aims is to protect our power plants; one of the main objects of our bombers is to destroy the enemy's generating plants.

General Cable Corporation, which makes wires and cables through which electric power is transmitted, does well to call public attention to what the power industry is doing to hasten the day of victory. This industry has given the United States more electric generating capacity than all the rest of the world and has delivered this power to the places where it was most needed and could most readily be harnessed to the war effort. In this and other essential industries, every worker should know that victory depends on his doing his part and should have recognition for unusual performance.

CHIEF OF ENGINEERS, U. S. ARMY
WASHINGTON, D. C.

REPORT TO FILE NO. CE 675 (Utility War Time Aid Program)—NFEUM

WAR DEPARTMENT
OFFICE OF THE CHIEF OF ENGINEERS
WASHINGTON

March 6, 1943.

Mr. J. W. Carpenter, President,
Texas Power & Light Company,
Dallas, Texas.

Dear Mr. Carpenter:

The participation of the Texas Power & Light Company in the Utility War Time Aid Program is greatly appreciated by the Army.

Your splendid cooperation has aided in the operation and maintenance of the many military establishments throughout the United States at a minimum of expense and use of critical materials. In making available to the armed forces your wealth of experience, research, manpower, and equipment, you are rendering a very fine contribution to the national war effort on the part of one of America's most vital war industries.

For the Chief of Engineers:

Very respectfully,

O. F. LEWIS,
Colonel, Corps of Engineers,
Chief, Repairs and Utilities Branch,
Construction Division.

WE LIKE TO KNOW that others, besides those in the electric industry, appreciate the vital importance of Electric Power Service in the war effort, as well as in the day-to-day life of our customers and their communities.

This Company takes pride in the things it is doing to speed Victory... supplying ample electric power to military installations and war industries (some of which require more electricity than entire Texas cities) and, in addition, providing for the full electric requirements of the civilian population of this area; selling War Bonds; lending full support to the wartime conservation program. Its employees (those who are not fighting at the battle fronts) are "fighting" on the home front... buying a substantial quota of War Bonds; helping to staff the Red Cross, Civilian Defense and other war agencies; and doing their regular, important job of supplying electric power service twenty-four hours a day.

Yes, recognition of our efforts in the war program is a source of inspiration which spurs us on in the fight for Victory.

REDS SAY 30,000 OF NAZI TROOPS SLAIN

The summer German offensive in Russia has begun, so says the Berlin radio.

The Germans admit their push is getting under way later than on two previous summers when they attacked the Red army. The fiercest fighting of the Russian campaign was under way on a 150 mile front where the Germans have thrown in some half million mechanized troops in an effort to break through.

The Russians are making fantastic claims. They say some 1800 tanks and 625 German planes have been destroyed. The Germans, says the Red Star, have lost 30,000 men killed in the action which has been under way only a few days.

Some quarters said that the German general staff is convinced that the Allies cannot or will not invade at this time and the big gamble is on to destroy the Red Army.

The German radio said Thursday that the great allied fleet had left Gibraltar and that General Eisenhower has more than a million men ready for the assault on Italy.

The Germans say that a thrust will come through the Near East also.

The American airforce Thursday was stepping up its attack on Sicily and Sardinia. For the first time considerable number of the Army's B-26 bombers, named Marauders by the British, were in action against the soft under belly of the Axis which is Italy.

Over in the South Pacific the Americans were within 6 miles of the great Japanese air base of Munda, now isolated and certain to fall.

It was disclosed that Marines landed on Rendova on June 20 before either a naval or air force went into action.

Rev. and Mrs. R. Kalkbrenner, Mrs. Gus Johns, Mrs. Otto Schulz and Miss Nora Kohring, motored to Waco Thursday to attend the L. T. & S.

The American soldier in Alaska meets up with a hundred little things that remind him of home. One of them is Coca-Cola. Vendors' Signs Amuse American Troops in Egypt

Native Advertisements Prey On Gullible Public; Use 'High' Pressure Tactics.

CAIRO.—One of the first things that delight an American soldier on arrival in Egypt are the signs displayed by shops and restaurants. They are fitting introduction to the wonders of the East, says the Associated Press.

A refumery at the Cairo Bazaar, for example, bears the inscription: "Mohammed Aly. A dealer in Oriental Odours."

A restaurant announces in big black letters: "Eat Here And You Will Not Regret It. English Cooking by Your Greek Allies."

One sign reads: "Joe's Investigation Service. Member of Society of Detectives. Inquiries. Pursuits. Investigations. Burglary. Fires. Accidents. Give us a trial."

And a tobacco shop bears this placard: "Twin X cigarettes. When half smoked they explode. Very amusing."

A barber advertises: "Gentlemen and Ladies hair cut and ironed." One barber, incidentally, will make you a false beard from the hair he cuts off your head, at a small extra charge.

Subscription Haircuts.

Cairo barbers also sell subscriptions, payable in advance. They range from the ordinary eight-piastre-a-month subscription, which entitles the bearer to two haircuts monthly, all the way to the 150-piastre de luxe special, which gives the customer the right to unlimited haircuts, shaves, manicures, singes, massages and anything else either he or the barber can think of.

Several of Cairo's innumerable native guides have produced guide books in English—an achievement more ambitious than grammatical. One starts:

"Here is this ancient Egypt land of the Nile and Pyramids as well as spinkes and temples is so many things to see. The first rule is to take no other guide but only me as other guides are dangerous. If I am busy that day I will get you good guide."

"I will not only show you all the interesting things to see, but also tell you all the mysteries, the mysteries that nobody else knows. I will show you where Moses was found in bullrushes. I know the very spot. I also drive automobiles, having license, and if preferred can rent you camel. I charm snakes. I am archeologist. I also have remedies for all disises and can sell you scarabs from ancient tombs of the kings at prices which are the lowest."

One curio shop advertises in letters several feet high: "Coronation robes for royalty."

Application for a Job.

The Associated Press in Cairo received the following application: "Dear Sirs: I am applying to employment with your distinguished company as stenodactyl. I have been diplomaed three times. I am Syrian by originality, a Christian by fate and very skilful in counting numbers and writing books. As you see, my English is perfect. I also speak and write perfect French, Arabic and Italian and have some notions of Greek."

A cafe bears the sign: "Excellent intoxicating beverages special for His Britannic Majesty's Forces at regulated prices." Another, with amazing candor, described one of its drinks as "an artificial stimulant made of synthetic alcohol and imitation flavor."

A brand of American-type cigarettes manufactured in Egypt bears a notice on each package that "these cigarettes are guaranteed free from ingredients."

"Families washed at special rates," is the pledge of a laundry.

In Egypt a Sand Witch is not a vision seen in the desert but rather a piece of meat between two pieces of bread.

It's all very funny, but in fairness to the authors of the signs it must be said that if the soldiers were to attempt to write in Arabic the result would be just as funny to the Egyptians.

See Plenty of 'Durable' Wartime Shoes This Year

WASHINGTON.—About 15 million more pairs of "durable" wartime shoes for civilians will be produced this year than last, although production of shoes of all kinds will be nearly 100 million pairs less than the 1942 record production, the War Production board said recently.

"Plenty of essential shoes for men, women and children on the home front—little material or manpower for frivolous footwear," is the slogan on which WPB has based its shoe orders.

Homing Pigeons Carry Mail; Beat Gas Shortage

CARLSBAD, N. M.—Despite gas rationing and other wartime transportation problems, Elmer Helper is keeping in touch with his Dog Canyon ranch, 75 miles from Carlsbad in the rugged Guadalupe mountains. He has acquired four homing pigeons, two to be kept at the ranch and two at his Carlsbad residence. The birds carry important messages to and from the ranch.

Miss Mildred Matyastik of Clarkson community has returned from San Antonio and Taylor where she visited for three weeks.

Mrs. Joe Ezzell and son Joe Claude of El Paso and Miss Mamie Crouch and father of Rogers will visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Crouch of Cameron Friday. Mrs. Ezzell will return to her home in El Paso Monday.

Pvt. Jessie Holloway who is stationed in Fort Sam Houston is expected home some time Saturday to visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Holloway of Cameron.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Clore attended a family reunion of the Hobbs family at Elgin.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Jistel and daughters, Bernice and Evelyn, and son Billy spent the week end at Schulenberg with Mrs. Jistel's mother, Mrs. Frank Pauler. A family reunion was held at the time and all the children of the family were present, 6 boys and 6 girls. It was the first time all had been together in 21 years. It was a very memorable occasion and all had a grand time.

The nursery room at the Newton Memorial Hospital has five tiny guests. They are babies all of recent birth and born in the hospital. All babies and their mothers are doing nicely in the home-like atmosphere of this memorial hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Cass of Gause are the proud parents of a baby boy born Thursday in the Newton Memorial Hospital.

SAVE FOOD

Proper Storage Cuts Waste

We Americans have been very wasteful of our food. There's waste in transportation, at the wholesalers, at the grocery store, and in the home where 10 to 16 per cent* of the food winds up in the garbage can. You, the homemaker, through a personal conservation program can do much to cut this waste. Plan your shopping for first of the week and avoid careless handling of fresh foods. Cook food properly. Reduce size of servings with an invitation to come back for "seconds." Store food as shown in chart below.

Saving is Producing Food

If you have a modern trouble-free, silent automatic gas refrigerator, it provides several different degrees of cold in various locations. So food should be placed in the refrigerator in such a way that it will get the proper degree of cold. Remember, proper refrigeration requires free air circulation within the food storage cabinet, so don't cut down the circulation by over-crowding with large packages of food. For proper storage follow the above chart carefully.

TOUCHY BUSINESS—Job of laying mines is almost as dangerous as finding them and digging them up. Private first class Leonard A. Keller, of Mission, Texas, is learning how to handle the deadly "cakes," as he trains for fighting front, during Third Army maneuvers somewhere in Louisiana.

WON'T QUIT—Veteran miner Charles Hartman wouldn't quit the coal mines at Uniontown, Pa., with the other strikers. He has a son, Sergt. James Nelson Hartman, in the U. S. Army Air Force, somewhere in North Africa. Nobody tried to stop him from working.

231,098 Drafted From Texas

FROM the beginning of the draft through April 30 of this year Texas furnished 231,098 inductees, according to figures given to the House Appropriations Committee by the Selective Service System.

Nationally, over that period, 7,713,865 young men were examined, 5,457,924 were accepted, and 2,225,941 were rejected.

In Texas, 319,335 were examined, 231,098 were accepted, and 38,237 were rejected.

New York State, which has furnished the most men, had 977,177 examined, 685,629 accepted, and 291,488 rejected.

The number accepted in New York constituted approximately 70 per cent of those examined. The number accepted in Texas constituted approximately 72 per cent of those examined.

Diamonds Go to the War Front

Diamonds not only have become essential to the production of war equipment, they now are actually going to the front. It is estimated that about 15 per cent of the Army personnel wear glasses—and glasses break. The American Optical Company has developed a mobile lens-grinding unit for Army use, which is equipped with diamond tools. Every field repair shop for fighting planes or other motorized equipment which uses abrasive wheels of tungsten carbide must have diamond-pointed grinding tools to keep the wheels true. So must the machine shops of the warships. These diamonds that go to sea or to the front are only a small part, however, of all the millions of diamonds that help produce and maintain equipment used in military and naval operations.

Recently Firmin Van Bree, chairman of one of the leading Congo diamond mining companies, said that more than 60 per cent by value and 90 per cent by weight of the world's diamond sales this year are being used industrially, whereas a few years ago only 10 per cent were used for that purpose.

Russian Guerrillas Serious Problem for Nazis

Waging war on Russian guerrillas behind the German front is becoming a serious problem for the Nazis. Reports from correspondents with the German troops give details of the extent of guerrilla attacks.

The guerrillas often work alone or in small groups, forcing the Germans to comb the territory behind the front in occupied areas.

The upper reaches of the Dvina, Berezina, Dnieper and Pripet rivers have been favorite guerrilla haunts because of the impassable state of the country.

The Russian Army supplies the guerrillas with trained snipers, sappers, radio operators and doctors. Arms and munitions were also supplied.

South Pacific Sailor Survives Seven Battles

William J. Holder, of Irving, (Dallas county), Texas, home on leave, has survived seven battles in the South Pacific area. "The Japs are tough and ugly," he says, "but we can win, maybe this year, maybe next, if the Army, Navy and Marines continue their marvelous co-operation and if the home front is solidly behind us, sacrificing and working hard."

To folks on the home front he urged more letter writing and cheerful letters. It's a happy day in a sailor or soldier's life when he hears from home, said Holder.

To mothers with sons overseas he gave this information: Your boy is the best-equipped and best-fed soldier in the world. Don't be uneasy if you don't hear from him regularly. The Army has a tremendous job getting letters back home and is doing its best.

Holder's ship, the Astoria, a heavy cruiser, took part in many battles in the Savo Island engagement off Guadalcanal August 9, 1942, and Holder, rescued from the sea by a destroyer, was slightly wounded.

Cow-Hair Clothing

Axis sources report that cow's hair is being used in the manufacture of clothing in Denmark. A process has been devised to prepare the hair for spinning. Textile plants will collect an estimated 1,700,000 pounds annually.

Prisoners of War

Americans in many areas, including Texas and Oklahoma, become used to the sight of prisoners of war. At prison camps throughout the country the Army is holding 36,688 prisoners of war; 22,110 Germans, 14,516 Italians and 62 Japanese.

The enlisted prisoners are living in standard sixty-man barracks in camps enclosed by barbed wire and guarded by American soldiers. Discipline is enforced by their own non-commissioned officers. The prisoners receive 80 cents a day for a five-day, forty-eight-hour week, 10 cents of it for expenditure in the camp canteen, the rest to be paid after the war. These sums must be repaid by the prisoner's home government after the war. At work they wear American World War I uniforms, dyed green and with the letters PW printed in red on the backs of the coats and seats of the pants. On Sundays they are allowed to wear their own nation's military uniforms. The officer-prisoners, who are not required to work, live in separate prison camps. In all cases prisoners receive regular American Army rations, changed, in some instances, to include more potatoes and less green vegetables.

The Death of Edsel Ford

The unexpected death of Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company, on May 26, left the company and a huge family fortune unshaken.

The action of the elder Ford in rolling up his shirt sleeves to again take up the reins which he relinquished to his son 24 years ago was not so startling as it may have seemed to many. Although Henry Ford will celebrate his 80th birthday July 30, it was in character for him to resume personal charge of the industrial empire which he built into the greatest the world ever has known.

The responsibilities which Mr. Ford assumes in the active direction of his empire are staggering. Just how large and how rich that empire is no one, not even Mr. Ford himself, can tell. Estimates of its value run from $800,000,000 to a little less than two billion dollars, and if the personal fortunes of the Ford family are included the latter figure probably is more nearly the correct one.

Mr. Ford has plants in more than 26 cities in the United States and others in Ireland, Turkey, Spain, Portugal, Sweden, Finland, Canal Zone, Brazil, Cuba, Mexico, Uruguay, Chile, South Africa, Australia, India and Egypt. In addition, at the outbreak of World War II, he had plants in most of the enemy and occupied countries of Europe and Asia.

Traffic Accidents Report

The Texas Department of Public Safety has completed a compilation of traffic accidents.

The report shows that in 1942 there were 1,316 traffic deaths. During the first quarter of this year, the department recorded 267 deaths. If this average continues for the current year there will be a further decrease in loss of lives.

As for the number of accidents, 1941 was high with 1,684 recorded. In the first quarter of 1943, there were 886 accidents.

Most hazardous time for driving is between 7 and 8 p. m., contrary to what the average person might believe. This is when most fatal accidents occur, but the report observes: "When either a driver or pedestrian feels that he has the road to himself at a late hour, he is asking for trouble."

Pedestrians were victims in 28 per cent of the 1942 fatal accidents.

Natives of the Smaller Allies

The navies of the smaller Allies fighting with the United Nations have a total of 220 vessels and nearly 27,000 officers and men operating under the flags of their respective countries. In just over one year these navies have been increased from 170 fighting ships and 15,000 officers and men to their present strength.

The composition of the smaller Allied navies was stated recently to be:

	Ships	Men
Fighting French.....	49	6,150
Norway	53	5,100
Netherlands	63	6,850
Poland	12	2,600
Greece	33	5,450
Yugoslavia	3	200
Belgian section of the
British Navy.....	7	350

During the past nineteen months these Allied navies have been replacing many of their older ships by up-to-date ones.

Delay in Delivery of Pressure Cookers

Housewives will have little opportunity to buy pressure cookers in time for this year's canning, officials of the War Food Administration said.

Production delays have occurred, and most of the 275,000 authorized for manufacture by the War Production Board will reach retail outlets too late for the peak canning season, they explained.

A representative of the Food Administration who conferred with manufacturers in Chicago said two of the four firms to which production was assigned have just put their plants into production and the other two will not start manufacturing until July 1.

The delays have prompted the agency to alter its original plan for allotting the early output to Southern markets. Under the revised plan, the cookers will be distributed as evenly as possible in markets throughout the country. Only a small number of cookers will be available by August 1.

Under earlier orders, neighborhood groups and organizations will be given preference in the purchase of the pressure cookers. They will be distributed through regular trade channels, but purchasers must first obtain certificates from their county farm rationing committees.

The cookers authorized by WPB will be of the seven-quart or "family" size and will have pots made of porcelain-covered steel and tops of tin-covered steel.

Mark Twain Abroad

Recently Russians issued the 2,000,000th copy of Mark Twain's works printed in that country since 1917. Only Jack London precedes Mark Twain in popularity as an interpreter of American life for the Russians. Of the 15,000,000 copies of books by American writers published in Russia since the Revolution, 6,500,000 have been works of Jack London. Other favorites are Theodore Dreiser, John Steinbeck, Upton Sinclair, Pearl Buck and Paul de Kruif.

Radar Out of Hiding

The war has brought a new word into the radio lexicon, says C. S. Butterfield, press radio editor. It is "radar." It had been classified as a real "secret weapon"—one that embraces radio detection and range-finding devices.

And take it from the War and Navy Departments, both of which use it, as do the British, it has developed into a new science that not only has done a lot in blocking the tide of Axis conquest, but has helped to turn that tide the other way. Thus it has its many important uses in both defense and offense.

Before this war is over you may be hearing more about radar. But probably not as much as when it is turned to peace pursuits, for only recently has the veil of secrecy been lifted enough to bring the word out into the public. Men at work with the device long have been under the hush-hush orders not to mention it anywhere.

Even a joint statement by the War and Navy Dept., which officially revealed for the first time that radar existed, carried the admonition that "no further items will be released until the Army and Navy are convinced that the enemy already has the information from some other source."

Nevertheless, enough has been given out to indicate the vital part radar now is playing, and to hint at some things it should be able to do.

Radar was credited with saving England at the time of the 1940-41 blitz by spotting enemy planes long before they could come within bombing range. Besides aircraft, it will detect enemy warships and submarines on the surface, provide data to help direct anti-aircraft and other gunfire even when targets cannot be seen because of clouds, storms, darkness or other obstacles.

Then, when peace comes, radar is expected to make important contributions to increased aviation safety, such as an accurate guide for pilots despite zero visibility, and reduction in hazards of trans-oceanic flying. It should, also, have its uses in sea transportation in preventing collisions in fog.

Coming as it does under the classification of electronics, radar depends upon the 186,000-mile per second speed of radio waves for its efficient operation. Special circuits, tubes and apparatus are so put together that the operator is enabled to obtain data on what is being picked up.

Radar operates on the well-established principle that certain objects will reflect radio waves, particularly in the ultra-high frequency range. It sends out impulses, which, when they silently hit airplanes, battleships or the like, are sent back to the receiving post with sufficient energy to provide information for airplane spotter, gunner or other watcher. Means also have been developed to determine the distance from an object.

U-Boat Pack Slowed Down

Hitler's U-boat pack is having a tough time in the western Atlantic. No western Atlantic Allied or neutral merchant ship sinkings were announced the first two weeks in June, marking the first time since Pearl Harbor that no losses were revealed during any two successive weeks.

Announcements last year showed that 111 merchant vessels were destroyed in the western Atlantic in June while 108 were sunk in May. Thus far only eight were revealed as sunk in May of this year with none announced up to June 14. However, sinkings usually are made public about a month after they occur.

Fewer Vehicle Deaths in 1942

Deaths from motor vehicle accidents in the United States last year totaled 28,200, a decrease of almost 12,000 from 1941, according to reports from the National Safety Council. Pedestrian fatalities decreased from 13,550 in 1941 to 10,609 in 1942.

"Pedestrians as a whole have not accustomed themselves to the caution requisite for safety," the council warned. "Thousands walking on highways do not yet seem to realize they are in danger and that it is essential to their welfare to look both ways before stepping off the curb and in crossing streets to adhere strictly to the rule to cross at crossings with the lights."

Oldest Living Thing

The largest and the oldest living thing in the world—weighing over 2,000 tons and older than the pyramids—is the giant sequoia (tree) in California known as "General Sherman."

The tree, nearly 300 feet tall and over 100 feet in circumference, is estimated by naturalists to be nearly 5,000 years old. It was a big inhabitant of the forest long before the birth of Christ.

The big tree is over 36 feet in diameter. Its largest branch is 130 feet above the ground and nearly nine feet in diameter.

Scientists have never known a sequoia to die. It may be destroyed by man, fire, earthquake, lightning, wind, landslides or erosion—but no redwood tree has ever been known to expire of old age.—The American Weekly.

Add a small quantity of water to a mixture of 1/4 glass of salt and 1/4 glass of bicarbonate of soda and apply this paste to insect bites to relieve the itching.

Grass Root Reveries

(Copyright, 1943, by the Southwest Magazine Co.)

THIS is one Fourth of July that should be celebrated seriously, for America is again fighting for its freedom. Many precious lives shall be lost to maintain that freedom. Since the beginning, men and women have fought against enslavement by despots. The Egyptians won freedom through sweat, blood and tears. Pharaoh was another Hitler, but the Lord took a hand and freed the Egyptians. The Lord will have something to do with this fight before it is over. Whether we win depends much on our mental and spiritual attitude. If we fail to ask God humbly for guidance and deliverance we may lose. Overconfidence and cocksureness have lost many battles.

"Reminded him of trying to ride a wild bronco."

We took a few days off and visited Galveston recently. The Oleander City is still gay and alluring despite blackouts along the seawall boulevard. During daytime the beach is resplendent with bathers in colorful array, some of the bathing suits cut to a mere figment of the imagination. The water was fine and I rode the waves better than I expected. A cowboy, tumbled over by several huge waves, said it reminded him of trying to ride a wild bronco without saddle or bridle. Galveston is and will always be the playground of the Southwest. After a cool dip in the surf you are ready for a good fish dinner, and you can get that, too, on meatless days and all other days at Galveston.

Only a few Americans pay any attention to science or scientists in peace time, yet science is now helping mightily to win the war. Water from the Gulf of Mexico is being used to make incendiary bombs with which to blast the Axis airfields and armament factories. These bombs are made from magnesium, a metal which is extracted from sea water. "Getting magnesium from sea water is a rather new industry, but this new source can produce 15,000,000 pounds of magnesium to each cubic mile of sea water," said Major Tilford Jones, chief of the Army's Chemical Warfare Department.

It is said that the younger generation think of the future and the older generation think of the past. Right now the oldsters had better team up with the youngsters and start thinking of the future. What kind of world do they want after the war is over? We should do some thinking about that now—to wait until the war is over may be too late. Heretofore thousands of Americans have let others do their thinking. Autocracies are born among thinkless people. The Italians let Mussolini do their thinking, the Germans let Hitler do theirs. The same thing can happen here. Shall we let one man do our thinking or shall we do it ourselves?

The United States Treasury has figured out that the American people are running around with $35,000,000 in their pockets looking for something to buy. I wonder how the government can keep track of the money in people's pockets. If Mr. Morgantheau knows how much money is in my pocket he is a financial wizard. The last time I counted my change it was $1.63. The three pennies were the brand new ones that look like dimes and keep you guessing. I made a dime purchase the other day and, through an honest mistake, handed the lady cashier a new penny instead of a dime. She looked at me with stony eye and said: "That's an old racket. You owe a dime, please!"

There is one place in the world that has not gone modern. It is in a neck of the woods on Coon Creek—a small community of farm folks. The day I visited the place an old-fashioned quilting bee was going on. A dozen women were quilting and talking, all at the same time. When a quilter would put in a stitch she would also try to put in a word. But with all the talking they got the job done, which is more than I can say for some men who do a lot of talking and never get the job done. It seemed odd to quilt comforts in summertime. Nevertheless, women are far-sighted and know that Old Man Winter, like Old Man River, keeps rollin' erlong.

The boys are enjoying that "ole swimmin' hole" on Coon Creek these July days. We go in wearing nothing but a smile, which makes for easier swimming and diving. This hole on Coon Creek is fed by springs and has been a recreative spot for a generation. If you want to feel young again, go in swimming with a bunch of kids who duck and splash mud and water all over each other.

The pay-as-you-go tax finally passed both houses of Congress and was signed by the President. I am still looking for some one to tell me how it will work. One man explained that it was pay-as-you-go, pay-as-you-come and pay-after-you-get-there. I guess he is right, for they are going to tax everything except air, water and sunshine, and air will be taxed when we get synthetic tires.

The Dallas Retail Shoe Association has instructed clerks not to fit shoes on bare-footed women. "Perspiring bare feet are not sanitary and leaves a stain on new shoes," the association declared. Which reminds me of what I read recently in a magazine. It says: "The many bare female legs seen on the streets are so pale, hairy, lumpy, warty, scarred and shapeless that male pedestrians have no trouble keeping their minds on business."

The above mentioned applicant addressed his card, with a 3-cent stamp attached, to "O. P. A. Mailing Center, Elsewhere, Texas."

THEFT OF ROOSTER EXPENSIVE

Judge R. A. Shivers, of Beaumont, (Jefferson county), seems to have little patience with chicken thieves. He assessed a fine of $50 recently for theft of "a large speckled rooster." The culprit said he didn't even get to eat the old bird, but gave it to a restaurant lady after he had killed it. "I ate only rice," he told the judge.

DEATH REPORT PREMATURE

R. Elmer Newton, of Pampa, (Gray county), was much surprised when three relatives from Greenville, (Hunt county), arrived to attend his funeral. He assured them the report they had heard of his death was "grossly exaggerated." Later he was pleased to cancel an order for funeral flowers which had been placed with a local florist.

TRAPPER KILLS 431 COYOTES

Childress county coyotes took an awful licking during the past year at the hands of government trapper, H. W. Pite, who reports 431 slain during the 12 months which ended May 15. He has killed several since that time, including 40 in one week in an area south of Childress. His best month was February when he got 69. He also killed six bobcats.

COURTEOUS ODESSA

The word "damyankee," is a familiar expression in the South. But the junior chamber of commerce at Odessa, (Ector county), wants to drop the "dam" because so many Northern men are stationed there in Army camps. The chamber asked for a city ordinance calling all citizens to leave off the prefix which might embarrass men in Army uniform.

LONG WAY AROUND

Charles Wilson, wire chief of the Katy telegraph office at Denison, (Grayson county), had a real problem during a recent flood in which many wires went down. In order to get messages to a point 12 miles away, he had to send them on a circuit which included Muskogee, Denison, Dallas, Denver, Kansas City and Parsons—then finally on to Wagoner, about 2,000 miles.

JEFFERS DISCUSSES PROBLEM OF RUBBER

Rubber Administrator William M. Jeffers, who visited synthetic rubber plants in Texas recently, was enthusiastic over progress made by these plants. He said that rubber as a problem can be forgotten by 1944. "I mean," he said, "that we'll have rubber for passenger cars for all essential driving. Of course, the military comes first."

CONTRIBUTE 100 TONS OF OLD TIN CANS

HOW MUCH FINE FOR MURDER

A negress asked him if he had a certain colored man in jail. Sgt. Huffman assured her he had. She asked "what for?" When informed the negro was held for murder the negress reached for her purse and asked, "How much is his fine?"

UNUSUAL BIBLES SHOWN

The Brotherhood of Faith, American Lutheran Church at Weslaco, (Hidalgo county), held a meeting at which unusual Bibles were exhibited. The oldest Bible was printed in 1708 and is so valuable it is kept in a safe. The smallest was one and one-half by two inches. Another had covers made out of balsam wood from Jerusalem. Bibles in Spanish, Greek and Hebrew languages were included.

KILLING TANKS AT CAMP HOOD

mental. Tactics were vague.

Finally it was decided, 18 months ago that the U. S. wanted to start from scratch on a new problem, not extend the tactics of three branches, but to take the best of the three and develop a new system. Thus the name was changed again, to tank destroyer.

Every day on the 158,000-acre Camp Hood range men are studying armored tanks and how to destroy them. They practice mock battles—one side representing the Nazis, the other side the Allies. They have even set up a German village which is attacked and technically destroyed, or from which a retreat is made after an unsuccessful attempt to dislodge the "enemy."

Another interesting training at Camp Hood is the use of sub-caliber ammunition. Most posts use this system to degree, but it is in greatly expanded use at Camp Hood. Starting with .2 caliber guns, men are trained until they reach the big guns. Small caliber weapons are attached to the 75s and the three-inchers in such a way that all the technique of firing the big gun is in the small one. Thus for hour after hour crews in M-10s fire on moving targets with small caliber guns, which effect quite a saving in ammunition and results in improved marksmanship.

DOWN ON THE FARM IN ALGERIA—It seems that youngsters in Algeria have to lend a hand to farm chores, too, after school is over for the day. Here are some lads on the job. One boy drives the team of oxen over the grassy slopes while the farmer guides his crude plow. This small farm is on the outskirts of the city of Algiers, recently occupied by the Allies.

DUCK AND RABBIT BOOKS IN DEMAND

Mrs. Maude Sullivan, El Paso public librarian, reports a growing interest for books on how to raise rabbits and ducks. She says boys living on farms and below the draft age are the most frequent inquirers.

KIWANIS CLUB SEEKS TO SAVE AMERICAN SYSTEM

Dallas Kiwanis launched a campaign to save the American system of free enterprise and "guard it against any force which would destroy it." The club's 200 members voted unanimously to carry out the campaign which will be spread locally in newspaper advertisements, by radio and other media.

FARMERS WANT MORE AMMUNITION

Members of the Wolf Hunters Bounty Association met in Seagraves, (Gaines county), and passed a resolution asking Texas in the national congress to assist them in getting more ammunition for use against predatory animals. It was estimated that $300,000 damage is done in nine member counties each year by wolves, crows, skunks and rabbits. Counties making up the association are Andrews, Gaines, Terry, Yoakum, Cochran, Lynn, Hockley and Ector of Texas and Lea in New Mexico.

HOME ACCIDENTS COST MANY LIVES

Dr. George W. Cox, State health officer, says accidents in the home cause more deaths in Texas than diphtheria, scarlet fever, whooping cough and measles.

Most frequent causes of such accidents were listed as slippery floors, cellar steps without hand rails and lights, toys left on stairways and unanchored rugs on polished floors.

ONE MAN ONLY VOTED

Only one voter went to the polls in an election which called for issuing $17,958 in bonds for repair work in the Dallas County Levee Improvement District No. 14. The vote was for issuance of the bonds.

PROMINENT LIVESTOCK BREEDER DIES

Walter J. Hudgins, extensive breeder of Brahma cattle, died suddenly at his home in Houston. He had done much experimental work in developing a type of Brahma cattle adapted to Texas ranches.

BABY HAS NINE GRANDMOTHERS

The Weatherford, (Parker county), Herald reports the birth of a baby as follows: "Mrs. Kathleen Danies Lott, of this city, has a new nephew. But that's nothing. The youngster has nine grandmothers, not to mention three grandfathers and numerous other relatives."

WORKERS AND WAGES INCREASE

Employed workers in Texas have increased 23.3 per cent and payrolls 44.3 per cent in the past year, the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas announced recently. Another 5.4 per cent raise in Texas payrolls was noted for May, though the number of workers remained static. Over the past year factory payrolls increased 33.6 per cent—less than in other industries. Gains ranged from 14.5 per cent at San Antonio to 99.1 per cent in Fort Worth. Galveston had a payroll drop for the year of 3.6 per cent.

TEXAS PASSES VITAMIN LAW

Texas is the third State in the nation to pass a law requiring the use of vitamin enriched flour and oleomargarine. Nutrition experts hail the law as a definite step toward eradicating nutritional deficiency diseases in the State.

NEW HOSTESS FOR TEXAS SENATE

Mrs. Roy Phillips, of Tyler, (Smith county), has been named official hostess of the Texas Senate. She succeeds Mrs. R. H. Ward, of Houston, (Harris county). The duties of the hostess are meeting the visiting public and showing people through the State building.

WANT PHONOGRAPH NEEDLES

Capt. Jim H. Parke, chairman of the University of Texas Drama Department at Austin, (Travis county), and now in military service, has written friends at home to be sure and include phonograph needles in their next package. Postmasters say such needles are permitted in the mail if they are properly packaged.

DOG HAS IMPORTANT WAR JOB

Mina is not on the War Department's payroll but she is an important factor in the wire-cutting department of the Normoyle, (Bexar county), Ordnance Depot, for she is the "seeing eye" dog for Ernest Beasley, blind war-worker who makes it hard for other workers with good eyesight to keep up with him. Mina leads her master first to the time-punching clock, then to his place of work, and curls up at his feet where she stays until Beasley is ready to quit and go home.

"I hear you got a girl, Sam?"
"Yes."
"What's her name?"
"Belle."
"Seen her lately?"
"No."
"What's the matter—had a fuss with her?"
"No, I went to her house last night and there was a sign on the door, 'Bell out of order,' so I didn't go in."

Absent-Minded
There was an absent-minded Sunday School teacher with whom the boys of his class liked to have fun. One day when the boys knew that their teacher was to read a certain passage from the Bible, they pasted together the connecting pages.
The teacher came into the room and began to read. When he got to the bottom of the page he read: "When Noah was 120 years old he took unto himself a wife who was"—then he turned the page—"140 cubits long, 40 cubits wide, built of gopher wood, and covered with pitch inside and out."

Young Housewife: "What makes this milk so blue?"

All Out for Oshkosh
Grandma Jackson and her young grandson were riding on a train. Grandma had dozed and suddenly she sat up. "What was that station the conductor called?" she asked the boy.
"He didn't call any station; he just put his head in the door and sneezed."
"Get the bundles together quickly," said grandma. "This is Oshkosh!"

Poultry News

Care of Eggs
"The poultry industry has a real job to do in spite of the shortages of labor, equipment and critical ingredients for ration," says C. O. Dossin, of poultry department of Pennsylvania State College, in Poultry Tribune. "We not only will try to produce enough eggs for home consumption, but we will supply eggs for our troops and also for lend-lease shipments to our Allies. The government has asked for more than 400,000,000 pounds of dried eggs for this year. It takes about three dozen shell eggs to produce one pound of dried eggs. To supply 400,000,000 pounds of dried eggs will require about 40,000,000 cases of eggs.
"The better the quality of eggs use for drying purposes, the better will be the finished product.
"In Pennsylvania, a study has been made on the effect that the farm care of eggs has on egg quality. In addition to those studied specifically, there are many practices of a general nature which must be considered. The most important one of these is the production of infertile eggs which may be a cause of considerable loss through more rapid deterioration in quality.
"The layers should be fed a complete ration if satisfactory production is to be expected. A complete ration also will enable the birds to lay eggs with a sound shell.
"Clean nesting material, clean dry litter, screened perches, clean boards, fountains, feeders and nests will reduce the number of soiled eggs.
Watch Out for Lice
Summer time is lice time. Control lice with nicotine preparations painted on the roosts, or in cases of severe infestation by dipping the birds in a solution of sodium fluoride made by mixing three-fourths to one ounce of commercial sodium

One Exception
Bill: "Very few women have any knowledge of parliamentary law."

Small Betty was all eyes at the fashionable church wedding.
"Did the lady change her mind?" she whispered to her mother.
"Why no, what makes you think so?"
"Cause she went up the aisle with one man and came back with another."

Defense Workers
Customer: "My goodness, but eggs are high."
Grocer: "Sure are, but there's nothing we can do about it."
Customer: "Why?"
Grocer: "The hens are on a strike and have defied the War Labor Board."

Co-Operative Spirit
Heard in an air raid shelter:
Warden: "Is there a mackintosh in here that's large enough to keep two young ladies warm?"
Voice: "No, but there's a McPherson here who's willing to try."

The Early Bird
MacTavish had never had the reputation of being early to work, and things became so bad that the foreman reprimanded him. A few days later, noticing a considerable improvement, he complimented Mac on his changed ways.
"Aye," retorted the latter. "I've got a parrot now."
"But what has a parrot got to do with it? Didn't I advise you to get an alarm clock?"
"I bought one, but after a morning or two I got used to it, and then it failed to wake me; so I just got a parrot, and now when I go to bed I hang the alarm clock over its cage. When it rings it awakens the parrot and he flops his wings and yells:
"Git up! Git up! Dam you!"

Adverse to Water
Beggar: "Loidy, could youse do something for a poor old sailor?"
Housewife: "Sailor? You don't look like a sailor to me."
Beggar: "Loidy, I follered the wotter for sixteen long years."

Mule Feed
The jury had been out two whole days and the vote on the case still stood at eleven to one for acquittal. They filed into the restaurant for their evening meal the second day.
"Twelve meals as usual?" asked the waitress.
"No," replied the foreman. "make it eleven meals and one-half bale of hay."

RICE-GROWING
spells economy because of less breakage. In the usual milling process, the breakage of long-grain varieties amounts to about 40 per cent, whereas in the rice conversion method the breakage is 10 per cent and less. In other words, Kik points out, much more head rice is obtained with the new process.

National Nutrition Emphasis
The British process is now in use in this country. A rice conversion plant was completed at Houston, Texas, by James & Harwell last year at a cost of $200,000. This plant is now producing 1,000 barrels of converted rice a day.
With pre-war emphasis on national nutrition, and with a view of possibly preventing waste of valuable nutrients, especially vitamins, Dr. Kik in 1941 undertook to determine what happened to the members of the vitamin B complex during the process of milling rice. The results of Dr. Kik's experiments revealed that the water-soluble vitamins can be retained to the extent of as much as 70 per cent of the thiamin, 50 per cent of the riboflavin, and 70 per cent of the niacin, all of which are important vitamin members of the B complex.

The pioneer work having cleared the way, further improvement of the new rice product is now possible. Dr. Kik is continuing his work with the view of still further improving the process.

Possibilities of New Process
This new process of milling rice can result in more consumption of rice, more rice being grown at more profit to grower. It can also result in expansion of the rice acreage. At this time rice in the United States is grown only in the three States of Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas. In Texas and Louisiana its growth is restricted to coastal areas, but it is possible to grow rice in Central, Northern and Western Texas and Oklahoma wherever irrigation and level land are available. The growing and harvesting season of rice is five months—from April to August—in Southern Texas and Southern Louisiana. Rice undoubtedly could be raised and harvested in the irrigation belt of the Panhandle and in the valleys of the Colorado, Brazos and Red rivers, where water for irrigation might be obtained from government built dams. Since rice must be grown in water, its cost of production is relatively higher than wheat, yet rice sells per bushel at an average of almost twice that of wheat.

More rice per capita is consumed in the world than any other grain. After the war, it is likely that America will have to feed large foreign populations whose main diet is rice. That would call for greater rice production in this country. To supply an increased demand it may be necessary later to convert some of the wheat lands of Texas and Oklahoma into rice-growing lands.

WHEN A SNAKE BITES YOU
(Condensed from Scientific American)

Undoubtedly the best protection against poisonous snakes is a keen eye. With few exceptions, the only dangerous snake is the one you do not see. It is generally the snake under a log or rock, hidden in bush or grass roots and inadvertently touched or stepped on, which strikes. The snake you see a few feet away will do you no harm, provided you stay away from it.

As the largest snakes of this country seldom bite above the calf, substantial boots afford protection. Recent tests have shown that neither water moccasins nor rattlesnakes can puncture the lightest leather regularly used in leather leggings.

Research in the past seven years have revolutionized the treatment for snake bite. Serum plays no part today in such treatment in the one institution where the snake-bite mortality is lower than anywhere else in the world. The Robert B. Green Hospital in San Antonio, Texas, treats more cases of rattlesnake bite in three months than any other institution in this country treats in as many years, and the mortality is less than 2 per cent.

The successful technique used in this hospital, and recently accepted for use by the entire United States Army, was developed by Dr. Dudley Jackson. His intensive researches into all known treatments proved to him that the only uniformly successful treatment was surgical: short, deep incisions at and around the bite, and the removal of poisonous fluids with suction cups at intervals for an extended period, often two days.

Snake venom is a powerful irritant, setting up a rapid outpouring of lymph from the blood, which causes swelling. In the swollen area there is a mixture of venom and lymph, which is slowly absorbed through the lymph channels. In the San Antonio treatment the absorption of the venomized lymph is retarded by the application of an elastic tourniquet, which is not tight enough to stop the blood circulation. Incisions a quarter of an inch deep, in the form of a cross, are then made all over the swollen area, and suction bulbs are applied for about 20 minutes in every hour as long as there is any lymph to remove. During the intervals between suction periods packs soaked in Epsom salts are applied to the bitten limb.

Records show that those bitten may receive from the snake anything from no venom in a few cases to several times a lethal dose in others. The majority will recover, without treatment, or even in spite of mistreatment. Sometimes a snake's fang strikes a bone, and most of the venom is secreted on the outer skin. Often fangs are embedded and withdrawn so quickly that very little venom is injected. But in a minority of snake bites the snake embeds its fangs deeply, holds on for a fraction of a second, and injects a killing dose of

GENTLER TREATMENT FOR CONSTIPATION

If you suffer from constipation due to lack of "bulk", and have normal intestines, here are two things you ought to know about medicinal laxatives.

They work principally by working on you — prodding your intestines into action or drawing water into them from other parts of your body. A dose gives only temporary relief.

Treat such constipation by eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly. It works chiefly on the contents of your colon, getting at the cause and correcting it. Eat ALL-BRAN regularly, drink plenty of water and "Join the Regulars"! Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

poison. In a majority of cases, incision and suction, properly carried on, is the only treatment necessary. A recent report of the American Medical Association, recognizing the importance of Dr. Jackson's work, states that though serum is valuable, "it should never be allowed to replace local incision and suction."

Now is the time to start getting rid of "loafing" hens, according to Mrs. Katie D. Knox, home demonstration agent for Jefferson county. "Feed is too expensive and scarce to waste on any hen that won't pay for her keep," Miss Knox said.

Home-canned pineapple has high nutritive value, according to Miss Winifred Jones, specialist in food preservation for Texas A. & M. College Extension Service. Miss Jones' statement came with the arrival of fresh pineapples on the Texas market.

Experts say the best pecan crop in 20 years is in prospect on trees in San Saba area of San Saba county. Emphasizing that spraying is most important, spokesmen for the industry say saving of the crop is important this year since nuts can do much to replace loss of meat in diets.

Clint Walton, a rancher near Dimmit, (Castro county), has built a new kind of fly catcher. He built a chute with a tall screened cage above the center and lined the chute with brush. The cattle must walk through the chute to get to water. Flies, brushed loose, swarm into the top cage, to be killed later.

Texas is being explored by the Emergency Rubber Project for dry land tracts suitable for planting of guayule, according to M. B. Jenkins, of the Bureau of Plant Industry, at Del Rio, (Val Verde county). "One experimental tract has been planted near San Angelo already on the M. D. Bryant ranch," Jenkins said. The dry tract program is new, since most of the previous plantings had been on irrigated tracts.

An essay contest started Albert Kotal, age 15, of Houston, (Harris county), junior high school student, on his way to helping with the nation's food production. After his essay had won a pig, Albert fattened the pig and won 50 baby chicks in a pig show. With this as a start, Albert really went to work and now has three cows, two calves, four hogs, 56 hens and 55 chicks. He and two younger brothers do most of the work on a 20-acre farm. Albert is the son of a steel plant worker and has been a 4-H club member for several years.

Mrs. J. H. Holybee, Georgetown, (Williamson county), reports that a Mexican man who is 96 years old has been chopping two acres of cotton per day this year on the farm of Fille Bishop in the Berry Creek area.

C. L. Pasley, who lives near Honey Grove, (Fannin county), reports a nice profit from one-half acre of onions. He gathered 95 bushels which sold for $152. He had a total expense of $30.50, leaving a neat $121.50 profit from the small tract.

It was a big "help thy neighbor" day in Potter county when friends of Mrs. Edith B. Walton brought their cultivators and planters to her farm. The sudden death of a son left Mrs. Walton without enough help. When the good neighbors finished work that night, they had cultivated 418 acres and planted another 187 in maize.

German, Japanese and Italian civilian internees in the Kenedy concentration camp will help South Texas farmers harvest their crops this summer, according to Ivan Williams, office in charge of the camp. The plan calls for the internees to work in squads of 50 or more and will be under civilian guard, it was explained.

Training and recruiting 400 people to help with Cherokee county farm work between August and November 1 to meet the labor shortage, worst in the county's history, will begin shortly after July 1, County Agent C. M. Heald, said. Farmers of the county favor the plan, because it will give them labor they will not get otherwise, the agent explained.

Ten per cent of the nation's berries are produced within a radius of 25 miles of Lindale, (Smith county). When scarcity of pickers threatened this year's crop, merchants worked out a program where all stores would close for two half days each week and help gather the crop.

Because Texas winter forage grasses are deficient in protein, A. L. Smith, animal husbandman of Texas A. & M. College Extension Service, has recommended the following use of protein supplements: For maintenance on average dry native pasture or other low grade roughage, dry cows should receive one pound of protein supplement daily; bred cows 1½ pounds, increasing to two pounds 60 days before calving; cows with calves at side 2½ pounds; calves and yearlings one pound; aged steers wintering on range and destined for fattening on grass, two pounds. Grain should be supplied as needed.

The citrus fruit season brought an estimated $45,000,000 to growers in the Rio Grande Valley and the crop amounted to 40,000 cars of fruit. Two-thirds of the crop was sold fresh and one-third went to canneries. It was the biggest citrus cash crop season in the Valley's history.

When egg buyers began to complain about egg losses, Bell county farmers began a campaign to "swat the rooster" and produce more infertile eggs to reduce losses. Other suggestions were made to increase the saleability of eggs, particularly getting them into refrigeration as quickly as possible.

4-H club boys of Jefferson county have their eyes on the grand prize at next winter's Houston Fat Stock Show. They have been given a 400-pound calf by Dale Broussard, of Beaumont, which they will finish for showing under direction of Assistant County Agent Louis Gilbreath. They are serious about winning the grand-championship next February.

The Extension Department of Texas A. & M. College has issued a safety bulletin regarding safety for women working on farms. Several items are stressed, first of which is against wearing clothes with loose parts which might get caught in moving machinery. In the handling of animals it is suggested to always speak quietly when approaching them. Hats, bonnets and long sleeves give protection from sun and wind. Gloves are advisable for rough work. Protection for nose and throat from dust is important. Dark glasses are helpful against sun-rays. Shoes should be well-fitting, low-heeled types. A physical check up by a doctor is advised to see if women are strong enough for extra heavy work.

The first two-car of 1943 wheat brought $1.41 and $1.39 in Kansas City, the highest price paid since the last war, but Texas farmers are faced with a problem which they cannot solve for themselves. Reports from Amarillo, (Potter county), as the harvest began in that area, say not enough cars will be available to move the wheat crop and much of it will have to be piled on the ground.

The War Food Administration has launched a nation-wide search for any idle farm tools. Tom Green county made a quick survey and reported 10 cultivators, most of them horse-drawn, and only a dozen other pieces of varied equipment.

University of Texas engineers have designed and built a portable freezing unit, for use by food processors, which is claimed to be much lighter and a faster freezer than previous units. Louis Bartlett, testing engineer, put the first unit into use at San Carlos, (Hidalgo county), and the second in Eagle Pass, (Maverick county). The new plants, for use in commercial processing of vegetables, fruits and meats, weigh only two tons and cost one-fourth as much as earlier units.

Ray Pedigo, 20-year-old farmer of Pilot Point, (Denton county), has been nominated by the FFA State committee to receive the American Farmer degree, the highest conferred by FFA. He operates 430 acres of black land planted to small grains, corn, cotton and hay crops and temporary pastures. Protein feed requirements for most classes of hogs can be reduced from 30 to 50 per cent if pastures are of high quality and acreage yield, according to a recent A. & M. bulletin. Alfalfa and clovers are top ranking, but small grains, cane, peanuts, cowpeas, etc., which can be produced in Texas pastures, have protein value.

The Kiwanis Club of Raymondville, (Willacy county), has formed a "perpetual pig" club in support of the national food for freedom program. The club purchased a registered Duroc-Jersey pig, which was given to Lucian Simpson, a farm boy, with the understanding that the club will have the privilege of picking one pig from the first litter to be given to some other farm boy, under the same arrangement.

The Houston, (Harris county), Post has come to the rescue of gardeners who plan canning vegetables for the first time with the following table showing the number of jars needed for canning certain crops: String beans, one peck (six pounds) six to eight pints; carrots, one bushel (50 pounds) 40 pints, mustard greens, one bushel (12 pounds) 12 to 14 pints; spinach, one bushel (12 pounds) 10 pints; peas, one bushel in pod (32 pounds) 14 pints; tomatoes, one peck (14 pounds) 7 to 9 pints.

Although there has been much talk of food shortages, a group of farmers in Bexar county have decided things may not be as bad as some say because they have not been able to find a market for their beans. They had three carloads available per week but no place to sell them.

The oldest farm in continuous operation in the nation is in El Paso county, according to an item in the Sealy, (Austin county), News. The article says the farm dates back to 1540. The farm is part of the Ysleta grant from the King of Spain to the Catholic Church of Ysleta.

Leo Hightower, of Odem, (San Patricio county), has applied for a patent for a new type of header for row crops. Operated by a gasoline engine, it has a cutter blade on the front of an oblong box and can be attached behind a truck. He says the machine cuts the heads off stalks and carries them to the end of a row where they can be dumped to dry before being hauled to storage.

CANNING FRUIT ON YOUR SUGAR RATION

The methods that worked best in canning fruit last year will suit 1943 sugar rations, say home economists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The starting point for a home-maker's planning is to get this year's sugar facts well in mind. A home canner may get up to 10 pounds of sugar for each person in her family by using stamps in War Ration Book I designated for that purpose. If she needs more sugar than that she may apply to her local War Price and Ration Board and get coupons which will allow her to buy up to 15 pounds per person in addition to the original allotment. The guiding rule for using the sugar is the same as last year: Allow 1 pound of sugar to each 4 quarts of finished fruit. If desired, 5 pounds of sugar per person may be requested for making preserves or jellies or fruit butters, but this must be included within the 25 pounds of "canning sugar" allowed to one person.

It usually takes 3/4 to 1 cup of liquid to each quart jar of fruit, to fill in around the solid food and to cover it well.

The home canning sugar ration allows about 3/4 cup of sugar to use in each quart jar, as an average.

Here are pointers from the home economists for canning berries and other summer fruits as they come along, so that the fruits, the sugar ration, and the home canner herself may all keep in step.

1. Shift the sugar to fit the fruit. Sour fruits may demand—and get—more than the average. In that case, you will count on giving short-rations of sugar to some of your very juicy and sweet fruits. Often you can taste the natural flavor of sweet fruit better when less sugar is used.

2. Put up some fruit without sugar, if necessary. It's true that a little sugar helps canned fruits to hold color and flavor. But the sugar isn't essential to keep the canned fruit from spoiling. Fruit for pie making is often canned without sugar, by choice. So is fruit for diabetic diets.

So, if you have more good fruit than sugar at any time this summer, don't let it go to waste. Can the fruit and mark the jars plainly to indicate "no sugar." Then you can open them and sweeten the fruit to taste when the family can best spare sugar from its weekly ration.

3. Precook fruit for canning. You can heat the fruit juice, or syrup, or water. Adding sugar before heating the fruit will help draw out juice. Some fruit thus treated yield enough juice of their own so that no additional liquid is needed.

There is good reason for heating the fruit before it goes into the canner. Precooking shrinks the fruit, helping you to get more into each jar—which is good wartime economy of glass jars and metal caps, and economy of shelf space, besides. However, never can the food down tight, of course. Allow a good proportion of liquid to each jar.

4. Thin or moderately thin syrup is in step with the sugar ration. For thin syrup, use 1 cup of sugar to 3 cups of water or juice. For moderately thin syrup, use 1 cup of sugar to 2 cups of water or juice. If sour fruits require a medium-thick syrup, use 1 cup of sugar to 1 cup of water or juice.

5. To extract juice: Crush and heat some of your softer juicy fruits to boiling. Use very low heat or set the pan over hot water, so the fruit won't stick to the pan. Be sure the fruit used for juice is as perfect as any fruit you put up. Cut out any trace of bruise or decay, for the canning saying holds good: "A bit of decay may spoil a batch." When the juice flows freely, strain it. Sweeten to taste if desired. 6. In place of sugar, use if you wish some of a mild-flavored syrup like honey or corn syrup. Use honey to replace up to half of your sugar, or corn syrup to replace up to one-third of your sugar. A larger proportion of the syrup would mask the delicate fruit flavor.

7. Three don'ts to end with: Don't use in your canning any syrups that have high flavor of their own, such as maple, sorghum, or molasses. Don't use brown sugar. Don't use saccharine in canning; if you do wish to use saccharine to sweeten canned fruit, add it just before serving, or the fruit may take on a bitter taste.

Learn to know what can be done with small quantities, as well as large. This year especially it's well worthwhile to put up even three or four jars at a time, always provided you have the right equipment for canning. On the basis of blue ration stamps needed for commercially canned foods, every jar of home canned food represents a saving in ration points—besides all the other advantages of storing up summertime food for winter.

WAR GUIDES FASHIONS

By NELL SNEAD

One of the striking instances of changes in the clothes world, changes which have been creeping up gradually, comes to the woman who now is shopping for her summer wardrobe.

A change as opposed to a year ago is the (Continued top next column) number of dresses which are made from synthetic acetate crepes, spun rayons, rayon crepe and novelty percentage of rayon and cotton. Pure cotton is the darling of summer, exhibited with pride everywhere.

Not only the fabrics of dress collections are different from those of a year ago, but the silhouette is slimmer. Hems are narrower, seams are less deep and the general impression is that any given size, be it a size 12 or a size 20 is "a little shorter and tighter" than the same size of a summer ago. This is not actually true by government size standards, but with narrower hems, shallow seams and other differences the dress is less adjustable to the wearer's size and for all practical uses smaller.

There are more button-straight-down-the-front dresses—more simple, less-trimmed models, color making up for lack of peplums, flounces, pockets, double lapel and other trims of yesteryear.

Washable clothes are stressed in high fashion shops, and everywhere dress collections tell that there is a war on. Not that pretty clothes are lacking, but the trends of dress faithfully reflect the progress of armed forces clothes and needs of a country at war. Many luxury items are eliminated for the duration, such as colognes, fancy leather goods, metal gadgets and fancy shoes.

TESTED RECIPES

Rice is the best substitute for Irish potatoes. Much of the rice served by housewives is not properly cooked. Try this recipe:

Baked Rice and Cheese

2 eggs
3 1/2 cups cooked rice
1 1/2 cups shredded American cheese
Dash cayenne
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon melted butter.
Beat eggs; combine eggs, rice, cheese, cayenne, salt, add Worcestershire sauce; mix well. Turn into greased casserole or baking pans. Sprinkle over rice mixture. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about 30 minutes. Serve with tomato sauce, if desired. Serves 6.

Bran Refrigerator Yeast Rolls

1/2 cup shortening (lard)
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup all-bran
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 cup boiling water
2 eggs
2 cakes compressed yeast
1 cup lukewarm water
6 1/2 cups flour, or more.
Combine shortening, sugar, all-bran and salt; add boiling water, stirring until shortening is melted. Let stand until mixture is lukewarm. Add well-beaten eggs and yeast softened in lukewarm water. Add one-half the flour and beat until batter is smooth. Add remaining flour and beat well. Cover bowl and place in refrigerator overnight or until ready to use. Form balls of dough to fill greased muffin pans about half full. Let rise in a warm place about two hours or until double in bulk. Bake in moderately hot oven (425° F.) about 15 minutes. Yield: 3 1/2 dozen rolls 2 1/2 inches in diameter).

Rolls Rump Pot Roast

4 1/2-pound rolled rump pot roast
3 to 4 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons shortening
1 1/2 cups water
10 medium-sized carrots
10 medium-sized onions.

Season the meat with salt and pepper. Brown well on all sides in the shortening, which has been put in a Dutch oven or heavy kettle. Add the water and cover tightly. Cook at a simmering temperature until meat is tender, from three to three and a half hours. Add carrots and onions the last hour of cooking. When meat and vegetables are tender, remove from the kettle and make the gravy. Brown about a tablespoon of flour in the kettle, gradually add around a cup of boiling water and stir until mixture thickens.

Grape Juice Salad—Served With Meat

1 pkg. lemon-flavored gelatin
2 cups grape juice (hot)
1/2 cup red apple (diced)
1/2 cup celery (diced)
1/2 cup green pepper (finely cut)
Lettuce.

HANDY RECIPES

WHEN cooking applesauce, add a few slices of lemon to bring out the flavor.

BREAD fried in bacon drippings may pinch-hit for the bacon itself at breakfast time. Saute slices until crisp.

SWEET sandwiches appeal to adults and children alike. Try some made with raisin bread and a mixture of cream cheese and honey, blended smooth.

JELLIED TARTLETS provide something different in the way of dessert. To assemble them, fold halved sweetened berries into slightly thickened gelatin—strawberry, raspberry or cherry—and into cool tart shells. Chill until firm and serve with whipped light cream.

ROASTER PEANUTS lend distinction to your favorite muffin recipe. Add a half-cup of chopped nuts to the batter, pour into tins and place a whole nut on top of each muffin.

FRUIT SALADS play an important part in summertime luncheons. One that is particularly appealing may be assembled like this: Stuff cooked, pitted prunes with a mixture of cottage cheese and chopped nuts, surround with orange sections and garnish with watercress. Serve with a dressing of mayonnaise blended with lemon juice.
